Bodies of Three Found in Quarry

DIXON, Ill. (AP)—Weary rescue workers digging through tons of rain-drenched clay early today lifted the mud-caked bodies of the three little Gurnsey sisters from the bottom of an abandoned quarry. They had been trapped in a landslide.

Disappearance of the girls, Nancy, 10, Ruthie, 9, and Theresa, 8, on Wednesday afternoon had touched off the most intensive search of this community of 20,000.

200 Farms Under Lease at Windham For Natural Gas

Approximately 25,000 acres of land in the Windham area are under lease in connection with plans to drill there for natural gas.

This was the information given in relation to an inspection made by two representatives of United Carbon Co., and speculation is rife concerning the starting date for drilling.

This field trip was made by James Hamilton of the company's land division and J. M. Capito of Charleston, W. Va., in charge of drilling in the firm's eastern division.

Assets Over $5 Million
The consolidated balance sheet for United Carbon and subsidiaries, for Dec. 31, 1956, showed assets of $55,990,105.67.

No indication was given by Hamilton or Capito as to when drilling would start, or where if at all, Mr. Hamilton is expected to return to Windham the second week in September.

Terms on Receipts
Under the lease agreements which run for 10 years, landowners receive $1 per acre per year. If gas or oil is found on his land, the landowner receives one-eighth of the gross receipts. The company has the exclusive right to explore and market the gas and oil found.

If gas or oil are found in substantial quantities, a new crop of "millionaires" may develop on the Mountain Top. An average well, producing, say 500,000 cubic feet of gas a day will yield at least $40 in daily royalties, according to Lane.

4 Are Hurt In Dutchess Fire, Blast

Four persons were taken to the hospital for observation after a truck carrying 84 cylinders of various gases caught fire and exploded Friday afternoon on Route 44 a third of a mile east of Pleasant Valley.

Treated at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, were the driver of the 1952 stake truck, Robert Mitchell, 38, of Newburgh, and three members of the Pleasant Valley Fire Department—Assistant Chief Joseph Roberts, Lt. Donald Kady and Fireman Steve Albrecht.

Blast Rocks Area
It was reported that all were suffering from shock as the result of an explosion at 3 p. m. which rocked the area, cracking walls and ceilings and shattering windows in nearby homes.

The truck, owned by Roger Peterkin of Newburgh was en route from Boston, Mass., to Newburgh at the time of the explosion.

Millbrook troopers reported that the driver, proceeding west, heard a noise on the back of the truck, got out to investigate and discovered that the canvas covering the cylinders was on fire.

Realizing the danger of explosion he spread the alarm, warning traffic and nearby homes. The local fire department was summoned.

Truck Total Wreck
As they arrived at the scene one of three explosions shook the vicinity.

Just how many of the cylinders exploded was not immediately available but the truck was reported to be a total wreck.

Of the 84 tanks, 36 contained oxygen, 33 helium, six nitrous oxide and six carbon dioxide.

Thruway Tolls Up 18½ PC Over '56

ALBANY (AP)—Toll collections on the State Thruway continue to run well ahead of last year's pace, the Thruway Authority reported today.

The agency said it collected $13,733,983 during the first seven months of the year, 18½ per cent more than it took in during the comparable period last year.

July collections were $3,404,007, up almost 33 per cent from those of June and about 16 per cent greater than those in July of 1956.

Thruway concessions yielded $1,670,523 in the January-July period, compared with $1,064,868 at the same stage last year, for a 60 per cent gain.

Several of the restaurants and service stations were not open during much of 1956.

Army Will Deactivate Division

Reserves May Be Economy Target

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's armed services, which already have whacked some two billion dollars out of planned expenditures this fiscal year, now are planning for tougher times ahead.

The Army got on the economy bandwagon yesterday, announcing the deactivation of an additional division, the abolition of 18 anti-aircraft battalions, a 15,000-man reduction of its civilian payroll, and closing of 14 depots, plants and facilities.

Last to Make Cut
It was the last of the services to spell out its moves to help bring total military expenditures within the 38 billion dollar ceiling ordered by the administration for the current fiscal year, which began July 1.

The services now have announced a 100,000-man reduction in the total authorized strength of nearly 2,800,000. Some 53,000 civilian jobs also have been eliminated, with possibly more cuts to come.

Earlier this month, Secretary of Defense Wilson froze civilian hiring until a new civilian work force ceiling can be set. Before the first civilian cutbacks started several weeks ago, 1,160,914 were employed.

Wilson Repeats Warnings
Wilson, who will soon give up the defense secretaryship, has set the services to work on plans to trim total military manpower down to about 2½ million. Wilson and his financial experts have sounded repeated warnings that virtually all military costs are rising steadily and will continue to go up, leaving manpower as the main source of future economies.

Reserve forces are the next manpower area likely to feel the economy axe. They already have been reduced to the 2,900,000 maximum authorized by Congress. The Pentagon has said the concept of smaller, more mobile units for the regular forces will be applied to the reserves as rapidly as possible.

Take Different Paths
Aside from manpower cuts in both civilian and military ranks, the services have followed different paths toward economy.

The Air Force, despite reductions in its operating funds, means to maintain the 128 wings scheduled before the current saving campaign took a firm grip on military planning.

State Forests Stay Open Despite Fires

Henderson Going to Ankara

Envoy to Study Mid-East Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Veteran diplomat Loy Henderson has been dispatched to the Middle East to try to figure out how the United States and its friends can cope with the Communist threat in Syria.

Henderson stopped off in Athens today enroute to Ankara, Turkey. State Department officials reportedly are convinced that Syria is not yet a Soviet satellite by any means. Although pro-Soviet army officers have dominated power, these officials believe some way may yet be found to block a complete takeover by Moscow.

Top Troublesooter

Henderson, a top State Department troubleshooter, left Washington Thursday, but the State Department did not disclose his departure until about 24 hours later. Late yesterday, however, the department announced he was on his way to visit Turkey and probably other middle eastern countries.

Henderson's choice of Ankara, the Turkish capital, appeared to be much more than accidental. In that city, he can confer without delay with Turkish Prime Minister Adnan Menderes, King Hussein of Jordan and King Faisal of Iraq.

Turkey, Iraq and Jordan are Syria's principal neighbors.

Members of Pact
Turkey is an ally of the United States in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and Iraq is a member, along with Turkey, of the anti-Communist middle eastern Baghdad Pact.

Jordan, a recent target of Syrian and Egyptian efforts to install a leftist "government," has U. S. support and aid. The United States is a member of key committees of the Baghdad Pact, including those on military planning and anti-subversion but is not a member of the pact itself.

Data Is Meager
The State Department gave scant information on the nature and purpose of Henderson's mission as it relates to the Syrian situation.

Henderson, 65, is a former ambassador to India and Iran and minister to Iraq. He has been in the foreign service for 35 years and headed up the State Department's Bureau of Middle Eastern Affairs during some of the critical days of the Arab-Jewish conflict over Palestine immediately after World War II.

In recent months, Henderson has represented the United States at meetings of the Baghdad Pact Council. He is regarded by Dulles as an expert on middle eastern affairs and especially on problems involving the Arab nations.

Panel of 30 Jurors Set For Trial
Approximately 150 persons—mostly Legionnaires and Legion Auxiliary members—were present Friday night at Town Hall, Port Ewen, as a panel of 30 jurors was drawn for the trial of an ex-serviceman on a charge of illegal possession of slot machines.

PLEDGES AID—Teamster Union official James Hoffa gestures as he testifies before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee in Washington. He told the Senate probes he has "agreed" to "look out for" the family of labor racketeer Johnny Dio if Dio is sentenced to jail. (AP Wirephoto)

Hoffa Denounced By Probers, May Be Called Back

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa was returned to his Teamsters Union duties after being denounced by a Senate probe as a "disgrace to trade unionism" and accused of 48 acts of misconduct.

The charges against Hoffa, a Teamsters vice president, were spelled out late yesterday by Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate rackets investigating committee as McClellan abruptly dismissed Hoffa after four days of testimony.

Flew to Detroit
Hoffa flew to Detroit headquarters last night, and joined negotiators in a labor dispute which had tied up Detroit's major daily newspapers for six days. Several hours afterward, the strike was reported settled.

The dismissal from the Senate committee witness stand came after Hoffa said he could not remember whether he joined with New York racketeer Johnny Dio to enhance his own position in the union and give Dio a foothold in the teamsters.

The cocky midwest Teamsters boss defied dozens of questions about his dealings with Dio by pleading: "My best recollection is, I can't remember."

Before halting, the committee session yesterday, McClellan served a new subpoena on Hoffa, saying the union boss may be called back for more questioning, later. The chairman also read, in scathing tones, a statement citing specific instances of alleged misdeeds about which he said Hoffa had equivocated in his testimony.

Likely Successor
Hoffa is regarded as the most likely candidate to succeed Dave Beck as head of the 1½-million-member Teamsters organization, the nation's largest union.

Under questioning, Hoffa acknowledged he had been wrong in associating with New York "bums and criminals" like Dio. He said if he were elected Teamsters president he would take action against racketeers the committee

500 Battle Blaze Near N.Y. Border

ALBANY (AP)—More than 500 firemen, volunteers and airmen fought today to check a fire that has blackened 2,000 acres in an isolated area near the Canadian border.

The fire, raging through brush and scrub forest, crept to within 200 yards of the Altona-Sciota road, but a shift of the wind eased the danger to a dozen houses on the south side of the road.

Flies Over Area
Sharon J. Maufs, conservation commissioner, flew over the area to prepare a personal report requested by Gov. Harriman.

Harriman said last night that although the woods were very dry, he did not want to close them at present.

No injuries have been reported. Smoke from the fire in a section north of Plattsburgh billowed a mile high.

The Conservation Department said six other fires were burning in the Adirondacks.

Biggest Fire Contained
Melvin Titus, Clinton County fire coordinator, reported that the biggest fire was contained before dawn a quarter mile south of the Sciota-Altona road, about two miles east of Altona. It remained out of control at its northeastern and southeastern edges, but there were no dwellings endangered there.

About a dozen farmhouses along the road remained in some peril if the flames should head in their direction again but Titus said it appeared that evacuation might not be necessary. Motor transport was standing by, however, he added. Several families had their belongings loaded onto trucks in preparation.

Blown Toward Village
Five hundred forest rangers, firemen, volunteers and airmen from Plattsburgh Air Force Base battled until after midnight, while a stiff south wind blew the flames steadily toward the village.

The breeze slackened a bit in the early morning hours, but several score worked through the night, manning pumps, tank trucks and bulldozers.

Much of the equipment was stationed near the imperiled houses. Titus said none of the houses was actually in the woods. A few hundred feet of clearing protected each.

Ave Urges Caution
Volunteers battled with axes, picks, rakes, shovels and whatever tools were handy to dig fire breaks before advancing flames.

Harriman, in a recorded appeal broadcast by radio stations in Schenectady and Plattsburgh, appealed to the public to use extreme caution in the state's woodlands. A spokesman for the Conservation Department said they were getting drier all the time.

Senate Votes Survey of Inland Water Route From Albany to Lake Champlain

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a bill to authorize a survey of an inland water route from Albany, N. Y., into Lake Champlain with ultimate connection with the St. Lawrence River.

The measure, by Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), is for the so-called Lake Champlain cutoff. It would give an inland route from the Great Lakes to New York City.

A companion bill for the survey by the Army Engineers is before the House Public Works Committee.

The New York State Barge Canal to Whitehall at the southern end of Lake Champlain has a depth of 14 feet. The federal project in Lake Champlain provides navigable depths of 12 feet.

A route was investigated some time ago from Lake Champlain to the St. Lawrence River, by way of the Richelieu River and the Chambly Canal, to Sorel, Quebec, east of Montreal.

Portion of the inland route say it would result in cheaper shipping rates on grain and other products from the midwest and provide a protected route for ore shipments in the event of war.

The committee is composed of Atlantic and Gulf Coast shipping and business interests—the same group that opposed the seaway before its authorization by Congress last year.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp., a government agency set up by Congress, will hold hearings this fall on the tolls to be set.

formed organization he heads was designed to ruin operations of the seaway.

The midwesterners said the organization, the National Committee for a Nonsubsidized Seaway, wants tolls set so high that the seaway would have little business when it opened in 1959 for ocean-going vessels.

Fallon said he wanted tolls only high enough to pay for the waterway's operation, "no more and no less." He said the organization was formed because of statements by midwestern newspapers advocating no tolls or low tolls on the seaway.

Girard to Face Jap Court Monday

MAEBASHI, Japan (AP)—GI William S. Girard will be escorted to court by two majors and handed over to Japanese authorities Monday for trial on charges of fatally shooting a Japanese shell-picker.

The handover, outside Maebashi District courthouse, will be the first time custody of the 22-year-old soldier will be given to foreign authorities—a step that was fought by Girard's family and lawyers.

An Army announcement said Girard, of Ottawa, Ill., will be in U. S. custody until the moment "he is delivered to the court" about 9 a. m. and again when the first day's trial session ends about 4 p. m. The same procedure is expected to be followed on succeeding court days.

Guards Assigned
Eighteen Japanese policemen have been assigned as guards and to keep order at the court.

Disabled Vets Ask Probe By Congress of VA Head

BUFFALO (AP)—The newly elected president of the disabled American Veterans says he will press Congress to investigate the head of the Veterans Administration.

President Paul E. Frederick Jr. of Cincinnati, Ohio, said last night his first step will be to contact Rep. Olin Teague (D-Tex.), chairman of the House Veterans Affairs Committee.

The DAV, meeting in its 36th national convention, which ends today, adopted a resolution yesterday asking Congress to look into the "fitness for office" of Harvey V. Higley, head of the VA.

Higley, who spoke at the convention Monday, said he had no comment to make. He was reached in Boston.

The resolution charged Higley with "violating his oath of office in scrapping public law No. 144 . . . and replacing it with recommendations of the Bureau of the Budget, medical groups and military pressure in the conduct of reviewing claims of war-time disabled veterans."

It criticized the "continuing review of compensation claims" and the VA's reduction or termination of benefits for 40,000 veterans.

Missionary Will Be Alliance Guest Preacher Sunday

REV. ROBERT SEARING SR.

Rev. Robert M. Searing Sr., of Colombia, South America will be the guest speaker at the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, corner of Franklin and Pine Streets. The Rev. Mr. Searing first went to Columbia in 1934 and served for 12 years among the country people and Indians of Southern Columbia. During these years of ministry it was evident that the people must have gospel literature and the Rev. Mr. Searing began to secure gospel books and literature for this purpose. Requests from other missionaries brought about the establishment of a Gospel book store. From 1948 on the Rev. and Mrs. Searing gave full time to the ministry of operating this Gospel book store and preparing literature for use among the Spanish speaking people. This is now one of the largest Gospel book stores south of the Rio Grande. The store located in Cali, Columbia, has proved to be an important and integral part of the missionary work in that land.

The Rev. Mr. Searing serves as chairman of the Spanish Publications Committee of the Christian and Missionary Alliance and has visited all of the Latin American Mission fields of the Alliance as well as 17 other countries in the interest of promoting the use of Gospel Literature in Spanish. He also serves as a member of the Board of Directors of Evangelical Literature for Latin America, which is an intermission organization to promote writing, publication and distribution of sound Gospel literature. The Rev. Mr. Searing is now home on furlough and will be speaking in other Alliance churches throughout the year. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

Church of New York City, Sunday, Sept. 1, there will be no services at St. Paul's Church. Regular services will be resumed Sunday, Sept. 8 with Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. and divine worship at 10:45 a.m. The public is invited to worship at these services.

Your Life And Mine

By CLYDE HERBERT SNELL
The Garb of Kindness

Mercies, like people, do not always wear the same clothes. Kindness, for example, has many cloaks. Sometimes it comes to us decked out in pleasantness and loveliness and grace. But not always. It is dressed sometimes in what seems to us to be harshness and thoughtlessness—and even cruelty. There are some strange inversions in this world where the realities are not always on the surface. Sometimes what looks to us like kindness is cruelty; and what looks to us like cruelty is kindness.

The surgeon's knife is an instrument of kindness. With it he makes some deep incisions—incisions that are desperately hard to take. But always the motive is to save life. Probably countless thousands who will be reading these lines would not be alive today were it not for the fact that some skillful surgeon wielded his kindly knife on their behalf. The kindness and the sincere concern about life were manifested in the terrible ordeal of being cut open.

The kindest person probably is not the one who flatters us the most; or who pampers us regardless of how we act or what we do. By and large the best friend is the one who, upon occasion, rips into us, tears us apart, and helps us to see our faults and our failures. The very worst thing we could do would be always to choose friends who were consistently careful never to cross us, or to mention anything that might make us uncomfortable about our shortcomings or our sins. Real friends help us not only in pleasant ways; they also help us in ways that are stern and thorny. Sometimes we need a job in the ribs when we would far rather have a pat on the back. A true friend's kindness will manifest itself by sizing up the situation and giving us, not what would be pleasant, but what would be the best, in the long run, for us.

God's kindness, we must constantly be reminding ourselves, is not always expressed in obvious blessings. The surgeon's knife is probably a truer symbol of God's loving concern for us than candy or ice cream. "The Father's house is not all roof-garden," says Dr. Charles R. Brown, "where privileged people can look off with unimpeded vision toward the stars. Father's house has in it also kitchens and cellars." If life were all roof-garden—a place to lounge under the pleasantest of sullerings—we would all be good-for-nothings. God knows that. His love provides kitchens where hard work must be done; and cellars where things look dark and even, sometimes, the very stars are blacked out for a time.

God's kindness, like that of our human friends, does not always wear the same garb.

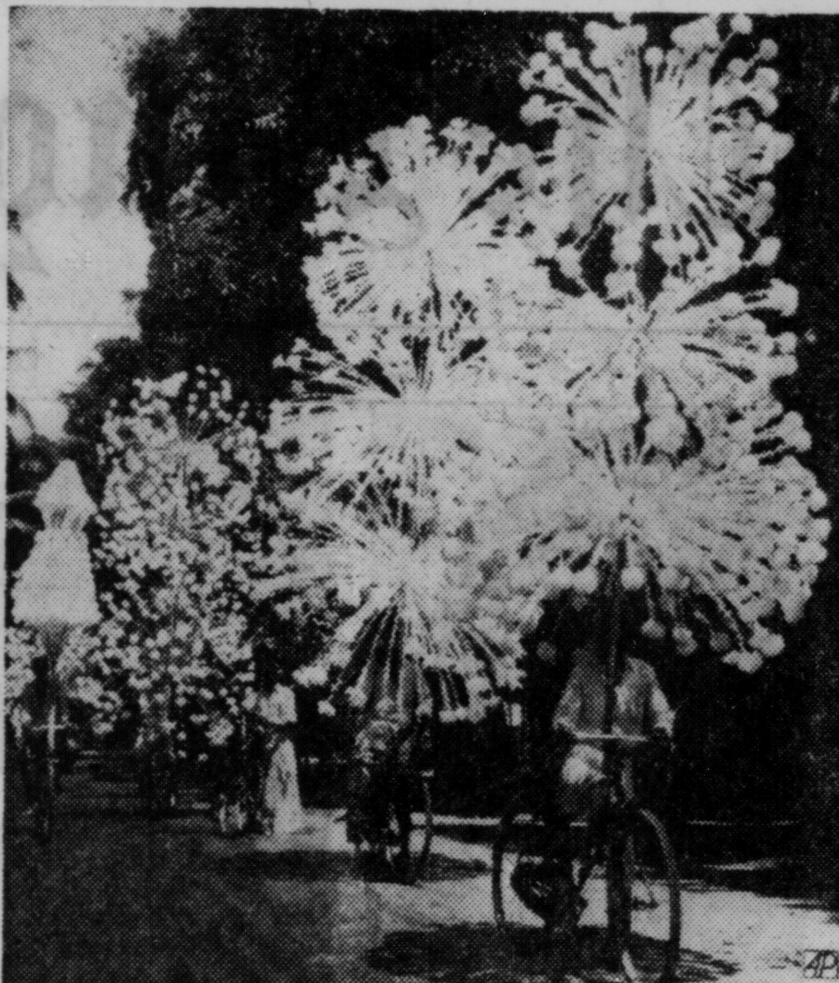

the redecoration of the sanctuary, the service is held in the assembly-room with entrance on Rogers Street. The redecoration of the sanctuary is planned for Sunday, Sept. 8. The Loyals will leave the church for an outing immediately after the service closing with a campfire in the evening. Monday 7:15, Cub Pack 9 will hold its meeting at Lawton Park; 7:30 p.m. there will be a meeting of the Sunday school staff in the parish house. Tuesday, 7 p.m. the Scouts and Explorers will meet at the church.

Ponckhockie Union Congregational, 93 Abruyn Street—Sunday school will be in summer recess until Sept. 8. Divine worship service for August and the first Sunday in September will be at 10 a.m. instead of 11 a.m. Worship service this week will be in charge of Mr. Sheldon. Tuesday, 7:30 p.m., monthly meeting of the Ponckhockie Circle of the King's Daughters at the home of Mrs. Edwin Chambers. Thursday, 7 p.m., senior choir rehearsal. All are cordially invited to attend the worship services of the church.

Trinity Evangelical Lutheran, Spring and Hone Streets, the Reverend Frank Lawrence Gollnick, DD, pastor, Donald Romme, MA, minister of music, Howard Houghtaling, organist—Church service at 10 a.m. Sermon will be preached by the Rev. Albert H. Shultis, guest preacher for the month August and the first Sunday in September there will be no Sunday school. The church service will be at 10 a.m. Anyone desiring services during the pastor's absence, may get in touch with the Rev. Albert H. Shultis.

Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran, (Missouri Synod) and Christian Day School, 22 Livingston Street, the Rev. Martin Dienst, pastor—7:45 a.m. Confessional service in preparation for Holy Communion; 8 a.m. early worship service, sermon topic: "The Gift of the Holy Spirit." Sunday school and Bible classes 9:15 a.m. Confessional service 10:15 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. divine service with the celebration of Holy Communion. A special meeting of the voters' assembly will be held immediately following the late service. Monday, 8 p.m. meeting of the elders. Wednesday 7:30 p.m. family night sponsored by the Mothers' Club. At this gathering the new day school teacher, Miss Ardeth Wiese of Schleswig, Iowa, will be introduced to the congregation. Thursday 8 p.m. Adult instruction class.

Methodist Area Leader St. James Speaker Sunday

REV. W. B. GROSSMAN

Guest speaker at St. James Methodist Church, Fair and Pearl Streets, Sunday at 10 a.m. will be the Rev. W. Bernard Grossman, recently appointed superintendent of Kingston District of the Methodist Church. An Oklahoman by birth (Mr. Grossman's father was a Methodist minister in the Oklahoma-Nebraska area for more than 40 years), he is a graduate of Oklahoma City University (A. B. 1938) and Drew Theological Seminary (B. D. 1941) in Madison, N. J.

Other State Charges
Mr. Grossman has held pastorates in Putnam and Pleasant Valley, Oklahoma; Mt. Herman, New Jersey; Grahamville, Pine Plains, and Pleasantville. He was appointed to Kingston from Trinity Methodist Church of Poughkeepsie where he had served for eight years (1949-57) having successfully conducted a $125,000 expansion campaign for educational facilities.

One of more than a hundred ministers who went to Cuba (1956) in the International Methodist Evangelistic Mission, the Rev. Mr. Grossman has been distinguished for his preaching and for his administrative genius. He has rendered excellent leadership on important commissions of the New York Annual Conference of the Methodist Church: World Service and Finance, Church Location and Building, Ministerial Qualifications.

The Rev. Mr. Grossman's subject is, "Eternity in the Heart." Worship will be conducted by Miss Barbara MacCubrey, Director of Christian Education at St. James.

Katrine Family Gospel Services Slated Saturday

The Family Gospel Hour will be held Sunday at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall located just north of Kingston.

The Family Gospel Hour consists of two services, one for adults in the upper auditorium and one for children in the lower auditorium. Both services are held at the same hour, from 6 to 7 p.m.

In the service for adults, the pianist will be Gilbert Cicio. Guest musician for the evening will be Calvin C. Cody, violinist. The Bible message by the Rev. Scott E. Vining will be entitled "The Great Creator."

In the service for children there will be a color filmstrip "Fish Out of Water." This filmstrip shows how the spawning habits of a tiny fish illustrate the creative hand of Almighty God. Mrs. Scott Vining will present a Bible fannelgraph story "Healing The Nobleman's Son." The handwork project will be correlated with this story. The program is supervised by adults, but it provides opportunity for participation by the children themselves. The Family Gospel Hour is an interdenominational, community project. Everyone is welcome.

Bethel Pastor Attends Presbyters' Meeting

The Rev. E. J. Klaus, pastor of Bethel Assembly of God Church, 3 Esopus Avenue, Town of Ulster, attended a meeting of the Presbyters in Syracuse this week.

The local pastor, who has served his charge about two years, was elected last March to serve as Presbyter for the southern part of the state.

His duties include 23 other churches under his supervision as well as the duties of his own pastorate.

Meeting Slated On Student Fund In Albany Aug. 27

Organization of the New York Higher Education Assistance Corporation is scheduled for the afternoon of August 27 in the Regents Room of the State Education Building, Albany, according to an announcement by Dr. James E. Allen Jr., commissioner of education.

The corporation was established by the 1957 Legislature to solicit private funds and loan them to students attending or planning to attend colleges in this state or elsewhere in the interest of improving higher educational opportunities through assistance to them in meeting their expenses.

To Act on By-Laws
The organization meeting has been set for 2 p.m. and will include an agenda covering the election of a temporary chairman, appointment of a temporary executive director, organizing the corporation for the purposes stated in the statute, adoption of by-laws, election of a chairman and vice chairman of the board of directors, election of an executive committee of five members and a discussion of further steps to be taken. Dr. Allen will extend greetings to the board members.

An outline of preliminary work to be done by the board to directors before starting business includes such items as determining the academic and personal bases for extending such loans; establishing possible cosigner requirements, interest and repayment schedules; establishing procedures for making loan payments either directly to the student borrower or to the higher education institution on its behalf; establishing criteria for including institutions on approved lists for participating in the loan program; considering plans to process loan applications; determining capital requirements to initiate the corporation's program; plans to be followed in raising the corporation's capital requirements; determining the number and qualifications of staff members to carry on the corporation's work; determining the size and location of the corporation's office; adopting plans to publicize the corporation's program, and procedures to be followed in obtaining Federal income deduction privileges for contributors to the loan fund.

Amounts Fixed
Chapter 367 of the Laws of 1957 created the corporation and chapter 620 appropriated $25,000 for services and expenses for the first year of its operations. The law limits the amount to be loaned to any one student in a single year to $1,000 and to a total of $5,000 for five years.

The members of the corporation are: Appointed by Governor Averell Harriman: Howard H. Cammack of Albany; Howard H. Cannon of Syracuse; Joseph Hill of Great Neck.

Appointed by Speaker Oswald D. Heck of the Assembly: Dr. Lawrence J. McGinley, President of Fordham University; the Rev. James H. Robinson of New York City; William G. Morton of Syracuse.

Appointed by Senator Mahoney: Dr. Judah Cahn, Rabbi of Temple Israel, of Cedarhurst; Ralph F. Peo, president of Houdaille Industries, Inc., of Buffalo; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Voight, secretary of education, Archdiocese of New York.

Ex-officio members are: Commissioner Allen and Dr. William S. Carlson, president of the State University of New York.

Pentagon Concedes Irregularities at 3 Air Force Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon today conceded that millions of dollars worth of supplies and equipment were mishandled—and some allowed to go to waste—at air bases in Newfoundland, Labrador and Greenland.

Acknowledging the accuracy of accusations made by the Senate investigations subcommittee, E. Perkins McGuire, assistant secretary of defense for supply and logistics, said corrective action had been taken.

In other developments in Washington: 1. A compromise $2,323,632,500 atomic energy money bill was en route to President Eisenhower today. The money is to run the nation's atomic program during the current fiscal year.

Will Back Boost
2. Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas said he would back a substantial boost in the foreign aid bill passed by the House but he did not think the Senate would vote for the maximum $3,300,000,000 that has been authorized.

3. Rep. Moss (D-Calif.) said the government had agreed to lift a 15-year secrecy lid on lists of goods shipped from American ports.

Pentagon investigators confirmed the charges of supply irregularities, McGuire said. He added that the inspectors general of the Army and the Air Force found that at the three bases there were "large surpluses above normal supply levels, mismanagement of supply records, and improper disposal of items of surplus materials."

Parts Recovered
Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said last night a preliminary investigation made by the investigations subcommittee had resulted in the recovery of 20 million dollars worth of excess spare parts which he said were going to waste at the air bases.

Taxpayers Name Ulster Directors

Former Mayor William F. Edelmut spoke to the Town of Ulster Taxpayers Association Thursday night, stressing the importance of settling problems by negotiation rather than litigation.

Edelmut also called attention to the importance of religion in government as reflected in his own experience as mayor.

Elected as directors at the meeting for three-year terms were Gertrude Coles, Hubert Brink, E. Cruger and Dennis Sheehan. Elected for two-year terms were Milton Cohen, Rita Frederick, Mrs. Gifford Beal and Darrell Hall. Elected for a one-year term was R. Barnhardt.

Officers of the association will be elected at a meeting on Sept. 5. The next regular meeting will be held Sept. 26. Brink served as temporary chairman of the meeting.

Lightest vs. Heaviest

Lightest fighter ever to win the world heavyweight championship was Bob Fitzsimmons, who weighed 167 pounds; heaviest was Primo Carnera, who weighed 260½ pounds.

Not Bald

The "bald" eagle has a fully feathered head. Its head feathers are white. In the days when this eagle was named "bald" was a synonym for "white."

Petition Urges Full Enforcement Of Trailer Laws

A petition signed by 55 resident taxpayers urging strict enforcement of the trailer ordinance was received this week by the Town of Ulster Town Board at its regular meeting at Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

The petition further gave its approval of the proposed zoning ordinance for the township. It reads as follows:

"We are acquainted with the trailer ordinance and strongly urge its strict and immediate enforcement.

Aware of Zoning
"We are aware of the proposed zoning ordinance about to be enacted in the Town of Ulster and are in full agreement that the town should be zoned into industrial, commercial and residential zones.

"It is our conviction that trailer camps should be strictly prohibited in residential areas and under all circumstances the regulation of trailer camps should promote the highest standards of health, safety, and morals in the community.

"We believe the enforcement of the trailer ordinance and the enactment of a zoning ordinance limiting trailers in residential areas will increase real estate values, encourage home building in the town, insure a permanent and civic minded citizenship, increase the assessed valuation of property, provide a more equitable distribution of tax burden, make our town more attractive as a suburban community, and promote the growth of industry.

"We the undersigned request your honorable board to favorably consider the above statements in your deliberations and enactment of the proposed zoning ordinance."

According to Supervisor Percy Bush the names on the petition were checked and cover a good cross section of the township. He said that the petition is on file for examination at the Town Clerk's Office, Albany avenue extension.

Explosives Are Dropped From Air To Lighten Load

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP)—An Air Force transport plane was forced to drop 17 cases of explosives near here today when it developed engine trouble and had to make a forced landing.

The plane, a two-engine C119, was enroute from California to Seymour Jackson Air Force Base, N. C.

Maj. Earl Helms, the pilot, said the craft was overloaded and that crew members dropped the explosives to lighten the strain so a landing could be made at Key Air Force Base here.

Caution Advised
Several cases of rockets and two 1,000-pound bombs were among the cargo jettisoned. Helms said the bombs were not equipped with warheads, but cautioned that anyone finding the boxes of rockets should handle them with care. A violent jar might cause them to explode, he said.

He said the explosives were not detonated when they landed in an area north and west of here.

Helms said military police from Craig Air Force Base at Selma, Ala., were on their way to aid in the search for the explosives.

Helms said the flight originated at North AFB, San Bernardino, Calif., carrying aircraft parts and ordnance. When the explosives were dropped, he said, the plane was carrying some 8,000 pounds of cargo. A total of 10 persons were aboard, including four military passengers.

Two Pay Fines Today In Local City Court

Two downtown men were fined in City Court today by Judge Raymond J. Mino, one for driving a car without a 1957 registration and the other for public intoxication.

Donald B. Lindley, 38, of 22 Broadway paid $10 for violation of the motor vehicle law, and Edward C. Martini, 26, of the same address, paid $5 for public intoxication.

The two were arrested by Officers Joseph Kivlan and Francis Buchanan Friday at 10:03 p. m. at the corner of Fair and St. James streets.

They were picked up, the police said, because they were riding in a car with a 1955 registration plate.

When questioned about the lack of a 1957 license, Lindley reportedly said something about the car having been stolen in Rhinebeck. Martini was noncommittal about any auto theft.

A police check revealed that the owner of the car did not care to place a charge of theft. It was a 1949 car valued at $90, the police said.

The two went to City Court today on the two minor charges and were ordered to pay the fines named.

Duke does most of the tricks performed by horses appearing in top western films and on TV programs, according to announcements for the show which will feature 18 classes, starting at 10 a. m. Ribbons and trophies are to be on display at the Shanty Store uptown starting next week, it has been announced by Rod De Veau, general chairman of the show. (Freeman photo).

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

One of my readers from Saugerties sent me some items on the Hudson-Fulton Celebration in 1909.

One was a copy of the Saugerties Daily Post of Tuesday, August 13, 1957. There is a reproduction of a souvenir postcard showing Fulton's Clermont which navigated the Hudson River from New York to Albany August 11-15, 1807. It was loaned to the newspaper by Lester R. Smith.

The item read in part that Captain Andrew Bring of Saugerties was the master of Robert Fulton's Clermont on the historic first voyage. The writer says in part: "As to the Clermont's measurements, no picture or specifications of the original have ever been found, and from Fulton's own writings, authorities calculated it to have been either 133 feet or 150 feet long, 12 or 13 feet wide.

It was built in the shipyard of Charles Brown on the East River at New York but the engine was imported from England. The engine was exposed at the midship and the paddle wheels on each side were 15 feet in diameter with floats four feet long. The boiler was of wood bound with iron bands, its steam leakage partly overcome by a jacketing of blankets and carpets. She belched black smoke and fire all the way."

My reader also enclosed an item from the New York Telephone Co. on "Stories of Our State," "Maiden Voyage." This year we celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Clermont's maiden voyage up the Hudson. The date was August 17, 1807.

A skeptical crowd watched as the ungainly boat, belching thick black smoke and showering sparks, its paddle wheels churning, moved slowly away from a New York City pier. One doubtful spectator said it looked like a "backwoods sawmill on a raft and set on fire."

Most of them agreed that this latest attempt to harness steam for water transportation would follow its predecessors into oblivion." Telephone item read.

All of us along the Hudson know that Fulton's Clermont was a success, for we have steamed on more modern vessels up this same route in perhaps faster time, but the view was just as picturesque and just as thrilling, and the sunrise and sunset were no prettier than that which Fulton saw.

He did it in some 48 hours from New York to Albany having covered the 150 miles at an average speed of five miles per hour. His Clermont carried some 40 passengers and a top speed of some eight miles and it had a little engine trouble, but am I glad he was born before me and that the Dayline ran excursions in my time so I knew the thrill many times of that trip to New York or Albany or shorter distances.

I do hope, that some day, real soon we will have a landing dock for big steamers at the Kingston Point Park so that this generation can also enjoy them and the past generation can relive their youthful excursions.

The Ulster County Fair was very lucky this year with the weather. Could the sky be more blue? There was a cool breeze at Forsyth Park although the sun was out in full force so were all the cows and chickens and the folks from all over the county. I saw so many real old folks sitting here and there visiting with their friends having their lunch. Children did not know where to run first, what to see most, and what to eat next. So much was going on all the time everywhere and everybody so busy. Through it all I did see a man peacefully reading a book on a bench although the music was playing and the little ones were having a time in the pool, nearby.

His defense lawyer Itsuro Hayashi announced meanwhile that Girard's Japanese wife Haru will not attend the trial.

Hayashi said he made the decision because "the Japanese public took a dim view of Girard's marriage . . . it was premature. My plan was to have them marry during the trial in traditional Japanese fashion, with myself as a go-between."

Congress Likely To Pass Rights Bill Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is expected to pass a civil rights bill—the first since reconstruction days—next week as a result of a new bipartisan compromise apparently acceptable to President Eisenhower.

Almost two years of legislative battling topped by 17 days of party-line deadlock culminated yesterday in announcement by congressional leaders of both parties that they have agreed on a compromise.

May Adjourn Friday
All said they expect Congress to approve it in time to adjourn next Friday. The Republicans said they are confident Eisenhower will sign it.

Southerners in the Senate, who hold the powerful filibuster weapon, have not all been heard from. However, preliminary indications were that they will vote against the revised bill but not organize a campaign to talk it to death. The House Rules Committee, which has had the bill bottled up, is expected to meet Monday or Tuesday, even if Chairman Howard Smith (D-Va) persists in his objections, and clear the bill. House action likely will come the day after the committee acts, and Senate leaders say their branch will be only a day or so behind the House.

Preserves GOP Stand
The compromise that broke the final deadlock preserves the position taken by Republicans, from Eisenhower down, that a judge must be free to try without a jury persons accused of violating court orders.

But it makes this concession to the southerners and others who insisted on jury trials in criminal contempt cases. In a voting rights case, if a judge elects to conduct a trial without a jury and imposes a penalty greater than $300 fine or 45 days imprisonment, the defendant can demand and get a new trial before a jury.

The overall maximum penalty provided by the bill is six months imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Law Explained
Here is the way the contempt provision would work: The attorney general could seek federal court injunctions to halt violations or threatened violations of voting rights. Violators would risk court action. If the action were civil contempt, designed to induce obedience, there would be no jury trial. If it were criminal contempt, or punishment action, the compromise provisions disclosed yesterday would apply.

The final revised version of the bill also will specify that a provision forbidding unauthorized disclosure of evidence gathered in closed session by the proposed civil rights investigating commission does not apply against newsmen.

This section provides penalties up to $1,000 fine and one year imprisonment for disclosure of such evidence without commission sanction.

Short of Proposals
The final bill falls substantially short of the proposals Eisenhower made last year. But its jury trial provisions are not nearly so broad as those the Democratic-controlled Senate wrote in.

Preserved from the Eisenhower bill, which was passed by the House without major change, are provisions for (1) a bipartisan investigating commission, and (2) a special division in the Department of Justice, under an assistant attorney general, to handle civil rights matters.

But the plan to authorize the attorney general to seek federal injunctions in support of a broadly defined assortment of rights was cut back by the Senate to apply to voting rights only. That limitation remains in the compromise bill.

The Senate also wrote in jury guarantees for criminal contempt trials not only in voting rights cases but in many other kinds of federal injunction actions. The compromise contains a strictly limited jury trial guarantee and confines it to voting rights cases.

Defenders
The Green Mountain Boys were Vermont settlers organized in 1770 to defend grantees of New Hampshire against efforts of New York to deprive them of their land.

Personal
Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tranker, of 277 Albany Avenue, have returned home after spending four weeks with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Weil, of Los Angeles, Calif. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Freudenburgh, who visited her son, William, and family of Oakland, Calif.

Just Can't Recall
He said he could not recall, either, whether he used them to listen in on various labor and political meetings.

McClellan called these incredible answers, and the committee voted on the spot that it was useless to try further to get information from Hoffa now. It agreed, however, to try again later.

McClellan then read his statement listing 48 accusations against Hoffa. McClellan accused Hoffa of conflict of interest in borrowing $89,500 from employers with whom the union bargains, and from union subordinates. Among "questionable actions," the statement listed the handling of some $300,000 in union funds.

Sen. Ives (R-NY), the committee's vice chairman, released a statement calling Hoffa unfit for the Teamster presidency and a man whose record was a "disgrace to trade unionism."

Thus ended four stormy days on the witness stand in which Hoffa often talked but seldom told much.

Amateur Radio Is Kiwanis Subject, Operators Lauded

The amateur radio operator and his service in emergencies was discussed at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club on Thursday.

William Smith, senior chemist at the Port Ewen plant of Hercules Powder Co., was the speaker at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

"It takes plain, hard work to become a ham (common term for the amateurs)," said Smith, who has followed the hobby for years.

He covered the activities of the group at length, and mentioned some of the better known hams of the country—Arthur Godfrey, famous radio personality; General Curtis LeMay and Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr.

Goes Back to 1912
The hobby started in 1912, Smith said, and by 1915 there were so many operators they jammed the airwaves, presenting a problem to commercial enterprises to the extent that licensing studies were started by the government.

When the first World War came along 4,000 were ready to help in army communications.

The hams organized the American Radio Relay League to relay messages over greater distances. Now they use higher frequencies to accomplish their aims.

It takes two or more people for the sending-receiving hobby, and equipment can be built or purchased, Smith said.

30 Help in CD
Hams have a long and proud record of public service, the speaker declared, and pointed out that 30 give their service to Civil Defense in the city and county.

He emphasized that the amateur operators maintained contact with the outside world for weeks during the 1928 Florida hurricane.

Cost of the hobby can run from 50 to thousands of dollars, Smith said, depending on the ability or inclination of the ham to build his own equipment or buy it.

It takes study of the Morse Code too as part of the hard work in trying for a license from the Federal Communications Commission.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 24, 1957

FERMENT IN THE BALLOT BOX

The business world is studded with market research outfits which help businessmen gauge probable customer response to their products and services. It might be a good idea if the politicians turned to this device in a big way.

They already do use existing research organizations to some extent, of course. Potential candidates often run off a little private survey before taking the plunge.

But if things keep on as they're going, they may need soundings on a big scale. The reason is plain. The complexion of their constituency is changing so rapidly with the changing face of America that it is hard to record it accurately from election to election.

Everybody knows that the country's farm population has been falling steadily for a long time. By the 1958 elections the farmers may well represent no more than one in every ten voters.

This means politicians will give less thought to the "farm vote," that legislators from predominantly farm states will speak with a smaller voice in Congress, that the balance of political strength will shift more than ever to the populous, highly urbanized states.

Within those latter states, the great migration to the suburbs continues, thus weakening further the old city organizations and buttressing the conservative vote common in the outlying sectors. Winning the city doesn't have the triumphant ring in political ears it used to have.

Big migrations proceed unchecked toward the Far West, the Southwest and the South, too. The net effect seems to be, up to now anyway, to make the East somewhat more Republican, the West more Democratic and the South for the first time a real two-party region in some parts.

With these churning shifts still in progress and evidently due to continue indefinitely, it is a rare politician who can keep really close tabs on the makeup of his constituency from year to year.

What is happening, naturally, makes election campaigns infinitely more intriguing to the onlooker, though painfully uncertain for the politician.

More important, without any evident loss of stability in government, it introduces a greater fluidity and flexibility into the American political system which serves well the cause of democracy. The age of political czarism, of easy entrenchment in "sure" districts, appears to be fading.

In their restless moving about, Americans have got their society in ferment, no doubt of it. Probably there aren't many politicians who wouldn't like to see this popular game of political musical chairs called off for a while.

THE HURRICANE MENACE

It is undoubtedly of little comfort to the people of Cameron, La., to know that Hurricane Audrey, which struck the Gulf coast with such fury this June, was one of only three such storms recorded in that month in the past 31 years.

August and September are the big hurricane months generally. In the 1926-56 span, 37 of the 49 hurricanes which caused loss of life occurred in those two months. Half a dozen have hit in October and a mere handful in November and July.

If there are any lingering doubts about the potential menace the hurricane represents, they should be washed away by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's figures showing that in the 1926-1956 period 4,042 people died in these violent seaborne storms. And Audrey adds some 350 to that total.

Off to an unlucky start this June, we must hope that the rest of 1957 will be more like 1951, when not a single hurricane fatality took place in the United States.

The best way to avoid an argument is to nod your head and agree and smile inwardly at your own forbearance with the unlearned.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
A NOTE TO CANADA

The State Department has addressed a note to Canada which is clearly beyond its province and therefore will sooner or later return to plague this country. The occasion for the note was that last April the Canadian government complained that the names of Canadian citizens were banded about too freely before Congressional Committees.

This note really refers only to Dr. Herbert Norman, the Canadian Ambassador to Egypt, who had committed suicide. However, it could be applied to other Canadians some of whom had deluged the American market with fraudulent stocks and others who have been raiding American industries with their own and Swiss money, some of which is of doubtful origin.

It was the case of Dr. Herbert Norman which excited most attention because he committed suicide on the verge of a political campaign in Canada. Norman had been accused of being a Communist and the story was going the rounds that the Canadian government was finding it difficult to avoid appointing a commission to investigate Norman who would be made a campaign issue by the opposition. Subsequent to Norman's suicide, the story had the widest circulation and from my standpoint as a reporter, authoritative origin, that Norman had committed suicide because an investigation of him by his government could implicate between 60 and 80 Canadians and Americans.

Lester Pearson, Canadian Minister for External Affairs, was Norman's friend. It was surely no news to Pearson that Norman's name had been mentioned in various hearings before Congressional committees over a period of several years. Therefore the fact that Norman's name came up in March before the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security could have been a shock neither to Pearson nor to anyone in the State Department. But his suicide was a shock; the dispute over his suicide notes, their publication in this country and Pearson's denial as to their authenticity, created a climate antagonistic to Pearson not only in the United States but in Canada.

The Canadian Embassy wrote a note to the State Department complaining about the references to Canadian citizens on April 10; the State Department replied on April 18; but now on August 13, the State Department replies all over again.

Between April 10 and August 13, the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security marked time, avoiding its principal investigations. Apparently some of its members knew of the State Department note of April 18 and it paralyzed them. At any rate, it is known that since that date Senator Watkins of Utah, who it will be recalled presided over the McCarthy condemnation hearing, has taken numerous steps to subordinate this Senate committee, of which he is a member, to the State Department.

What is most puzzling is why, in the middle of August, the State Department feels called upon to assure Canada or any government that "... the United States Government give its assurance that none of its agencies or departments will pass such information concerning Canadian citizens, received from Canadian sources, to any committee, body or organization in the United States over which the Executive Branch of the United States has no control without the express consent of the Canadian Government in each case."

It is an assurance that the State Department cannot live up to if a Congressional committee wants to make a real fight over it. Let us say that Senator Byrd or Senator Lausche or Senator Ke-fauver is investigating the sale of phony stock in this country such as, for instance, the Green Bay and Twin Bay operations. These stocks were unloaded in this country and sold by "boiler shop" brokers. It was possible to buy Green Bay at one time for 75 cents; it went up to $12.50 and then dropped dead.

These were interrelated Canadian companies working out of Edmonton, Canada. Does the new State Department note mean that no Congressional committee may have access to information in the possession of our government concerning this deal?

Or suppose a committee of Congress goes into the question of the Canadian newspaper cartel or the Canadian whiskey cartel, or into a combination of Americans and Canadians for raiding American companies, what could the State Department do? Actually, it would be very embarrassed because we remain a federation of 48 sovereign states and the Constitution does provide for separations of powers, within the Federal Government. It may be awkward to be like that—but there it is.

Judging by correspondence addressed to this column it is astonishing how many are troubled by adhesions, or think they are.

It certainly is possible for adhesions (particularly in the abdominal cavity) to cause symptoms. However, if a person has vague symptoms it is too easy to feel that they are the result of adhesions.

They appear as slightly elastic fibers under the microscope. This is called fibrous tissue and the body tends to respond to any infection or injury by forming it. This response is not related to the particular nature of the damage, but is merely nature's attempt to heal.

If a patient has acute appendicitis and the appendix has ruptured, spilling the infection into the surrounding tissue, adhesions will often form. Other internal infections may also be followed by the formation of adhesions.

ADHESIONS may or may not produce complications later on. The fibrous tissue has a tendency to contract. Thus if adhesions have formed around a loop of the intestines, they may draw tighter and tighter, preventing the free flow of intestinal contents. This, in turn, can produce trouble and may require an operation to cut these bands of fibrous tissue and free the partly strangulated intestine.

What to do for adhesions depends on where the adhesions are located, what normal structures of the body they surround and what this contraction is doing to the organs involved.

FOR SOME obscure reason some people tend to develop adhesions more easily than others. This raises a difficult problem because in such people new adhesions are likely to form even after old ones have been cut out.

The question is often raised as to whether there is any medicine which can be taken by mouth or injected which will dissolve the adhesions without resort to surgery. Unfortunately, this cannot be done. If the symptoms produced by adhesions are severe enough to require treatment the only thing which can be done is surgery.

...THE OTHER question which quite commonly arises in connection with adhesions is whether they can turn into cancer. The tissue which goes to make up adhesions rarely, if ever, becomes cancerous.

But one must always be as certain as one can be that any symptoms which are being blamed on adhesions are really the result of their action rather than the result of some hidden cancer.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Service Correspondent

Washington, (NEA)—The visit of England's Queen Elizabeth II here in mid-October is going to be a nice, mutually beneficial affair.

What with Lord Altrincham's criticisms of the Queen's speech-making and her royal household, it's time for her to duck out of London for a while. When she gets back all will probably be forgotten. Undoubtedly her sister Margaret will be dating some new eligible blue-blood and occupying the news spotlight.

From our town's point of view it has been a hot, dry, drab summer and we need something like the Queen's visit to perk up our jaded party-going. There has been a parade of some high-ranking foreign brass through here the past year. But there's nothing that quite touches an official visit from Her Majesty.

Her visits—she has been here before—are clean-cut fun, compared to those of so many official foreign callers. She won't be asking for a loan, guided missiles, atomic sub secrets or the commitment of U. S. troops to some remote place on the globe.

This'll be a relief to Ike, her host, too. When some foreign potentate mixes calling with favor-seeking the President has to have endless briefings to make sure he doesn't promise the wrong thing. Then there's always that uncomfortable meeting when the visitor makes his pitch and Ike has to say no, or offer something less.

THE QUEEN'S VISITS also always produce some juicy protocol problem which keeps the town talking for weeks. Remember those wonderful debates over whether women should curtsy when presented to the Queen, remove their gloves when shaking hands?

This visit has a pretty good checked before serious damage or disruption of the show.

Funds taken in at a revival of the Maverick Festival at Woodstock were seized by the sheriff's office, pending outcome of a lawsuit against the Maverick Players Co.

S. Gordon Watts, 35, outstanding athlete at the local high school in the 1920's died in New York Aug. 23.

The Dutchess County Fair at Rhinebeck was due to open Aug. 26.

protocol problem cooking already. And there will probably be a couple more before she arrives. British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia finds himself in the center of this one.

He's the Queen's personal representative in Washington and he should naturally be at her side during the whole visit.

His trouble is that seven other ambassadors from the 11 British Commonwealth countries were assigned to Washington before him. That makes him eighth in seniority.

The 11 Commonwealth envoys will be in on every function from the Queen's reception at the airport to her attendance at a Maryland University football game. The problem is how to spot them in receiving lines and at dinners. Sir Harold should be at the Queen's side. But his seniority rating rules this out.

FOR EXAMPLE, IF THE seniority rule is strictly observed at the formal White House dinner for the Queen and her husband, Sir Harold will be seated so far from the royal pair he'd have to use a public address system to make conversation with them.

Sir Percy Spender, the Australian ambassador, has top seniority among the 11. He'd probably swap places with Sir Harold. But the other six ambassadors don't want to go along with this. They can't be shoved around arbitrarily.

This may not strike everyone as a very serious matter, but it has State Department protocol expert Victor Purse in a lather. He's the gent who got King Saud in and out of town, through a fantastic set of protocol problems, without offending the King. And Vic rates this one as tough as any in connection with Saud's visit.

Since the last visit of the royal couple, the Queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, has been made a prince.

BEFORE THIS WAS DONE the Duke always walked three paces behind his wife. The new rank permits him to follow a little closer, but not quite at her side.

The curtsy thing is settled. American women don't have to curtsy to the Queen here. Everyone agrees this is OK. But there are always some U. S. ladies who like to give it the full treatment when greeting the Queen, which is rather dangerous.

In England they're used to all this curtsy stuff. Here they're rusty at it and there's always the danger of tipping over in the middle of one. This happened three times during the Queen's last visit. It was a little embarrassing but the Queen didn't bat an eye.

Foundation Play Ready For Opening Sept. 13

WOODSTOCK—Plans are progressing rapidly for the production of the 10th annual Woodstock Foundation play, "Gold in the Hills or the Dead Sister's Secret."

The melodrama will be produced Friday and Saturday, Sept. 13 and 14, at the Woodstock Playhouse. The playhouse has been made available through the generosity of A. L. Sainer, owner of the Woodstock Playhouse, to the Woodstock Foundation for the annual fund-raising production.

Rehearsals at the present time are being held at the Side Door Gallery over the Nook, three nights a week.

Terry Hansen has joined the company as stage manager and Frances Tranka is in charge of properties. Nell Bellock has joined the cast as Mrs. Vanderlop, the social "up-towner." Konrad King will play Chuck Connors, the Broadway and 42nd Street barker who "conduct you around Manhattan to see all the sights." John Pike will play the role of the derelict.

The enthusiasm and cooperation which is already being shown by all concerned with the production is guaranteed to insure the success of the play. Anyone who is interested in assisting the Foundation project in any way is cordially invited to call Edward N. Goddard, president of the board of trustees.

Membership Meeting

The general membership meeting at the Woodstock Art Gallery of the Artists' Association will be held Thursday at 8:30 p. m.

Pilgrimage to Katsbaan

The Historical Society of Woodstock will hold its third meeting of the season today, a pilgrimage to the historic old

All members of the Woodstock Fire Companies and their families are invited to attend the annual picnic at Asbury Picnic Grove Sunday at 1 p. m. There will be refreshments, a steak supper, and guests may go swimming in the afternoon.

Home Unit Lunch

The Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit will hold the annual fall luncheon, Tuesday, Sept. 10, at 1:30, at the Brookside Restaurant, Lucas Avenue, Hurley. Reservations with check must be received by Margaret Schilz, Shady, by Aug. 31.

Anyone requiring transportation is asked to call Anna Smalen.

Village Notes

Warren Graver Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Graver of Glasco Turnpike, will leave Tuesday, Aug. 27 for the Naval Training Center at Bainbridge, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. David Carlson became the parents of a son, Robert, born last Friday at Kingston Hospital. The Carlsons have four other children, Barbara, David, Elizabeth and Dina.

Mrs. J. R. Heinlein, wife of the late Homer G. Meinlein, former Woodstock rural mail carrier, became a great grandmother for the third time. Mrs. K. J. Broadfoot of California, the former Mary Jo Wilson, and her brother Herbert T. Wilson Jr. of Painted Post, both have sons. The Broadfoot baby was born August 7, and the Wilson baby, August 8, just 20 hours later. Mrs. Heinlein hopes to travel to see her great grandchildren in the near future.

Formula for Retirement: Just Shrink a Little

By Beulah Stowe

There is a man named Walter Ames operating a lunch counter in a small town in Michigan who has an unusual formula for success in the later years of life.

Here it is: "You need to shrink a little."

He explains that this does not mean your head or your soul. It means being able to put, your pride, all wool and a yard wide, through a hot water bath and pull it out still looking like pride—though smaller in size.

Along with the pride-shrinking should go the calculated shrinking of a man's responsibilities, Mr. Ames believes.

This, he says, is how it worked in his case:

He worked in a restaurant in his home town in Michigan after he finished high school. Then he went to Cleveland, Ohio, and found a job as a waiter in a hotel dining room. He learned to take the bones out of a fish, to toss a salad and to show the right customers to the right table.

Ten years later he was head waiter. Then he moved on to New York as a waiter in a supper club. Four more years of experience and he moved to another hotel spot, again as head waiter.

But in these years of big-city glamor, Mr. Ames was beginning to have a small dream.

At age 50, Mr. Ames went home to Michigan with enough savings to hire a contractor to build him a diner-type restaurant on the main street of town and near the only movie theater.

He calls his diner Walter's Window, and the street side of the shop is a solid slab of glass. Inside are a counter, nine stools, a cooking area behind, and lots of stainless steel.

Mr. Ames hires a girl to wash dishes, polish the steel and help. He does most of the cooking, specializing in steaks, pork tenderloin sandwiches, puffy omelets, homemade soups and salads. Back and forth behind the stools he marches, discussing with his guests politics, newspapers, television, movies, neighbors and how to plant petunias.

He "shrank" from a big city to a small town. From head waiter to chief cook. And he likes it.

Indian Village Is Visited on Tour of Oudemool Group

(This is the third report from Mexico describing the fourth annual Kingston caravan now touring that exotic country. Thirty teen-age boys and girls, under the direction of the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool of the Old Dutch Church are making the trip in three station wagons and trailers. This report is by one of the young ladies on the trip, Ruth Cawston.)

We saw our first real Indian village on Tuesday, Aug. 6, in Tzintuntzan. Here we purchased handmade cornstalk dolls and some pottery. Here also the Indians sold us, very cheaply, some ancient beads which were used as both money and ornaments in ancient times. These Indians were known as the Tarascans.

Wednesday we were in Morelia and some of us went to the marketplace very early. We had motor trouble when one of the cars ran over some rocks Thursday. It was raining when we had to combine two cars and everyone was out of sorts. We camped at a motel near Toluca.

Friday we headed for Mexico City. One of our cars was still out of "kilter" and it was necessary to take two carloads. Everyone was at the motel by 9 p. m. We had a birthday party for one of our members.

Saturday was our day, because we had the complete day to ourselves. Most of us got some of our washing done. We are finding it difficult without our home facilities. Everyone ate at a restaurant with the 12 pesos given to us by Mr. Oudemool. Curfew hour was 12 o'clock and about nine of us weren't in until 12:30 a. m. We were forced to climb the stone wall of the motel because the

Area Apple Mites Build Resistance To Orchard Spray

One of the Hudson valley orchardist's major pests, the tiny mite, is learning how to live with sprays if the same materials are used continuously, says Cornell and State University entomologist S. E. Lienk at the Geneva experiment station.

"About 15 to 16 generations are necessary for resistance to develop," he continues. "But since mites have seven to eight generations a year, it is theoretically possible to show this condition at the end of two years' time."

Discovered Here

The first authentic case of mite resistance in a New York orchard was established by station scientists in 1952, when it was found that European red mites in a Hudson Valley apple orchard were no longer controlled by repeated and thorough applications of parathion, malathion, and TEPP, phosphate-type pesticides.

"The grower had used parathion regularly in his spray schedule for the previous five years," comments Lienk. "Surveys the following year showed a dozen or more orchards similarly afflicted. But when the phosphates, particularly parathion, were used less frequently, the spread of resistance was greatly curtailed."

Apple growers in western New York have been more fortunate and to date there is no evidence of resistance in that area, it is said. The case is different with pears, however, where phosphates are about the only materials used and mite resistance is now a definite problem.

"Growers faced with a resistance problem can use pre-bloom 'Superior Oil' sprays or any one of several non-phosphate materials, such as ovex, Aramite, Kelthane, Mitox, Chlorobenzilate, and Genite EM293, all of which will control resistant strains of mites," concludes Doctor Lienk.

Jail Is Overflowing
LAKE GEORGE — Not all of the holidaymakers in this resort area are enjoying the sun.

The Warren County Jail is overflowing. Six prisoners were transferred yesterday to the Washington County Jail, one to the Onondaga County Penitentiary and one to the Saratoga County Jail.

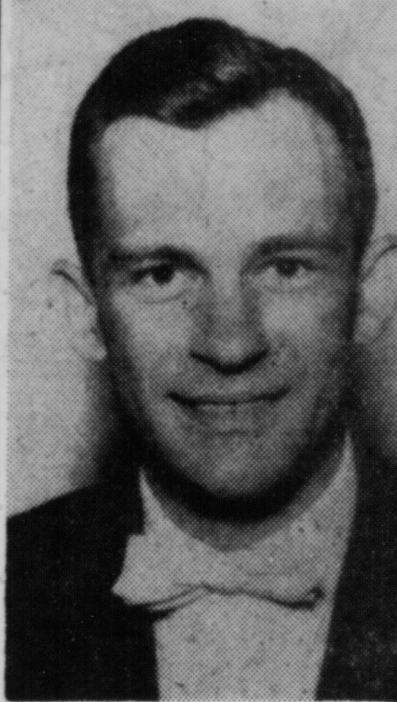

That reduced the jail population to the maximum of 23 set by the state. But Sheriff Carl K. McCoy expects more over the weekend.

Most of the prisoners are awaiting action by the Grand Jury that will convene early next month.

Eastern State Chairman of '58 March of Dimes

D. E. REUTERSHAN

ALBANY — A prominent Glens Falls lawyer, Donald E. Reutershan, has been appointed Eastern New York State chairman of the 1958 March of Dimes, it was announced today by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. The appointment marks the third consecutive year Mr. Reutershan has been named to head the annual fund-raising drive.

In making the announcement, Mr. O'Connor pointed out that in 1958, the March of Dimes will have among its major objectives the still unfinished job of fighting polio and of providing the maximum rehabilitation for those scarred by the crippling disease in past years.

Many Still Need Help
Mr. O'Connor said that "in spite of the fact that nearly 70 million Americans have been inoculated with the Salk vaccine, there are still thousands of polio victims who now and in the future will need March of Dimes help to return to useful daily living."

Mr. O'Connor also cited other important aspects of March of Dimes work which must continue as well — "the scientific research and the education of urgently needed medical personnel for research and patient care."

Accepting the Eastern New York chairmanship for the third time, Mr. Reutershan appealed to the people of this area to continue their support of the March of Dimes. Noting past March of Dimes achievements, Mr. Reutershan emphasized that "we do not intend to walk off the battlefield and leave behind the thousands wounded in the fight against polio. We now seek to repair the lives of those for whom the Salk vaccine came too late."

Active Since '53

Mr. Reutershan has been an active worker in the fight against polio since 1953 when he first served as March of Dimes campaign director for Warren County. He held the same post in 1954, and was also elected chairman of the Warren County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in 1954.

A member of the New York State Bar, Mr. Reutershan is the general counsel for the Glens Falls Insurance Company. He attended Hamilton College in Clinton, and after service in the Army in World War II, he was graduated with honors from the Syracuse University School of Law. He is a member of the Phi Delta Phi legal fraternity and of the Justinian Society, an honorary legal group.

Mr. Reutershan was born in Schoharie and now lives in Glens Falls, with his wife Ellen and 6-year-old daughter, Meredith.

Fair Highlights State Fall Events

ALBANY — The New York State Fair, Buffalo's 125th anniversary celebration, the national tennis championships and the Grand Prix sports races top an action-packed September events calendar in New York State, State Commerce Commissioner Edward T. Dickinson announced today.

Buffalo, marking the 125th anniversary of its incorporation as a city, will put on a large-scale celebration, September 21-30, featuring daily presentations of a historical spectacle, industrial tours, displays, parades and fireworks.

To Choose Queen

A "Miss Buffalo" will be selected on opening day and will reign through the 10-day festival. Herkimer will celebrate its sesquicentennial, with a program of special events, August 26 through Labor Day, September 2.

The best of the nation's amateur tennis players will be at Forest Hills, August 30-September 8, when the national championships will be decided on the West Side Tennis Club courts. Watkins Glen, in the Finger Lakes region will draw some of the top automobile racers, September 20-21, for the annual Grand Prix road races on the new closed course.

The New York State Fair, this year stressing the theme of opportunity for youth in industry, will be held at the Syracuse Fairgrounds, August 30-September 7. In addition, county fairs during the month will include Steuben County Fair, Bath, August 27-September 2; Columbia County, Chatham, August 30-September 2; Rensselaer County, Schaghticoke, and Montgomery County, Fonda, both August 30-September 4; Genesee Valley Breeders, Avon, August 31-September 1; Chautauque County, Dunkirk, September 2-7; Cobleskill, September 10-14; Trumansburg, September 11-14; and Dundee, September 19-21.

Hoffa Record Disgrace: Ives

WASHINGTON — The Teamsters Union should look to some one other than James R. Hoffa for leadership and a clean up, Sen. Irving M. Ives says.

Hoffa's record is "a disgrace to unionism" Ives said yesterday after the senate rackets committee suspended its hearings on Hoffa. Ives is a member of the committee.

The New York Republican said the union "needs now a man with an untarnished record, a leader with a clean past. Mr. Hoffa is not that man."

Midget Mule Arrives As New Army Mascot

WEST POINT — Jackson, a midget mule from Missouri, arrived at the U. S. Military Academy last night to take over his new post as mascot.

The 5-year-old mule is a gift from Kansas City businessman James H. Palmer.

Cadet cheerleaders plan to rename Jackson before he appears at Army's first football game this fall. The new mascot will replace Pancho, who is retiring at the age of 20.

Quits FBI For Pulpit

WATERTOWN — An FBI agent who holds a degree in psychology resigned yesterday to begin study for the Baptist ministry because of a conviction of "the need for counseling in a religious setting."

William E. Deichler, the resident agent here since March, had been with the bureau since 1951. While studying at the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School in Rochester, he will serve as pastor of the Baptist Church in East Penfield, near Rochester.

Deichler, married and the father of three children, holds a master's degree in clinical psychology.

2-Headed, 4-Eyed Holstein Is Born

GRAFTON, Mass. — A two-headed Holstein with four eyes, two mouths but one set of ears, was born yesterday on the farm of Casimir Szuba.

Dr. Wallace Black of the University of Massachusetts said that while one mouth is fed the other goes through the motions of feeding.

He said this unusual action is because of a "fusion of the two lower angles of the jaw causing movement of the two mouths."

How to Save On Oak Flooring

In the attic installation or in a room addition where subflooring already has been laid, the use of No. 2 Common grade oak flooring can save approximately half the cost of top grade oak flooring. No. 2 Common has interesting variations of grain pattern and coloring and makes a very attractive as well as long-lasting floor.

Where the subflooring has not been installed, tongued and grooved No. 2 Common of 25/32 inch thickness can be laid as a finish floor directly on the joists, provided the latter are spaced no wider than the usual 16 inches on centers.

New Floor in Jiffy

When prefinished oak flooring is used in modernizing an old home, a room can be re-floored and put back into service the same day. The new oak is nailed right over the old wood flooring. It is completely finished at the mill, even to final waxing and polishing.

Watch the Water

If you have a boiler in your heating plant, be sure that it contains the correct amount of water before it's put back into operation. A hot water system requires the boiler, pipes and radiators to be completely filled with water. For steam, add sufficient water so that the level in the glass gauge reads a little over half.

Septic Tanks Can Become Health Peril

Septic tanks will serve as satisfactorily as city sewers, with proper care and attention, according to the National Association of Home Builders. Otherwise they can become a burdensome expense and, when functioning improperly, they can become a neighborhood health menace.

All septic tank installations are required to meet the standards of the local health official. Learn the location of the septic tank and its drainage field. For best results, inspect them annually. The frequency with which a septic tank should be cleaned depends on its size, daily sewage intake, and the number of people it serves.

Garbage Grinder Unless the tank is large enough to accommodate additional wastes, the use of a household garbage grinder will require more frequent cleaning.

When the total depth of scum and solids exceeds one-third the liquid depth of the tank, the solids should be removed. With ordinary use and care, the tank will probably need cleaning every two years.

Persons with some knowledge of the operation can be found to perform this service in most communities or through the local health department.

Clean in Spring

Clean tanks in the spring of the year. Warm weather hastens bacterial action and, because waste material gives off obnoxious odors and may contain dangerous disease bacteria, it should be buried or disposed of in a manner approved by local health departments.

No chemicals are capable of reducing solids in a septic tank to the point where cleaning is unnecessary and patented cleaning agents are not generally recommended to be added to the sewage.

Aluminum Doors

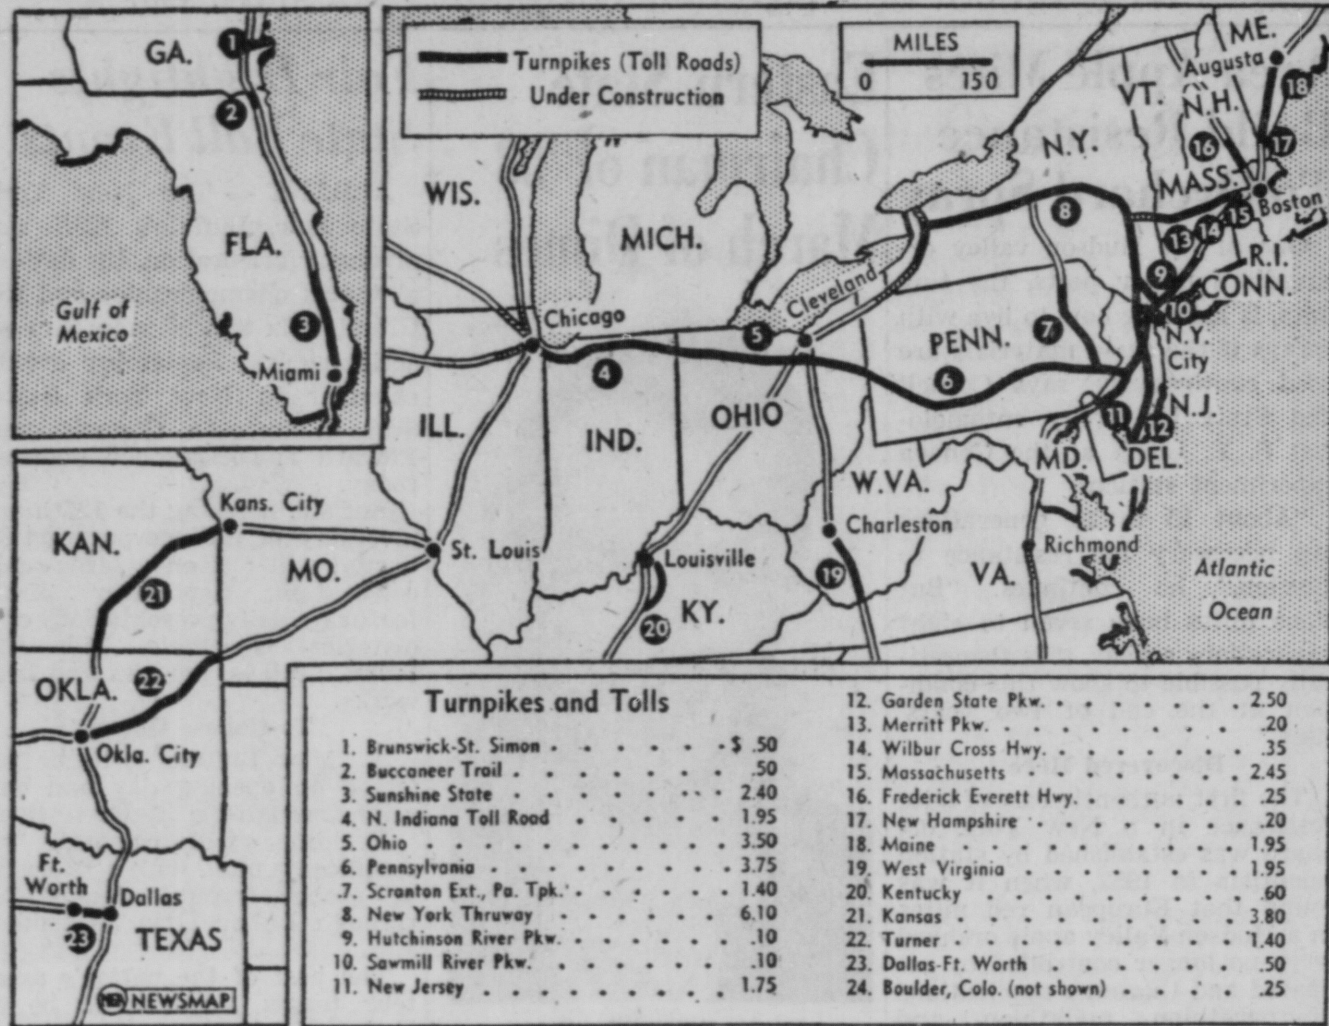

Narrow-frame aluminum and glass doors are made more secure with a new lock which the maker says is impossible to spring without destroying the door itself. Secret of the lock is a new kind of pivot-action construction that permits a long bolt throw from a short back-set.

New Plaster

New plaster needs a special coating of size or primer-sealer before applying a paint coating containing oil. Water-thinned type paint, however, can be applied without such preliminary coating.

Sprinkle Gadget

A new dry and steam iron has a built-in sprinkler system for speeding up ironing chores. All you do is press down the little spray button at any time the iron is steaming. It will send out a sprinkling mist of water to wet cloth.

GRAND TOUR—The opening of the newest leg of the New York Thruway east of Erie, Pa., adds another 46 miles to the grand tour of U. S. turnpikes you can make for $38.45. Numbers on Newsmap locate turnpikes. A tour of these roads would cover about 2,500 miles. The cost of such a tour is approximate because small segments of the network being brought to completion vary the tolls. The only turnpike not shown is that at Boulder, Colo.

The "Lomax" A Large House With Smart Lines

Seven Bedrooms Three Closets 23,060 feet Dimensions .. 39' 10" by 59' 4"

Featured today by the Home of the Week Plan Service is the "Lomax," a seven-room ranch type house that will provide comfortable and easy living on its one floor.

As most of today's houses, this plan offers a two-car garage, a convenience the suburban family welcomes in an era of daily commuting.

The basically straight lines of the structure are broken by the curve of the bow window in the living room located at the center of the house.

The sheltered front entrance is nestled in the jog formed by the garage on one side and exterior wall of the living room on the other.

Large Living Room

The living room is better than average in size, measuring 13 feet by 25 feet, eight inches. This room is entered from a six by four-foot foyer and in this area the guest closet is located.

The room's highlight is the large fireplace along the rear wall, facing and balancing the front wall with its large and sweeping bow window.

The dining room at the rear of the house is 12 feet by 12½ feet. This dining area is "enlarged" through the use of a window wall overlooking the patio, which would be ideal for summer evening meals.

Folding Doors

There is a wide entrance between the dining room and the kitchen which will comfortably accommodate a folding door. Off the kitchen is the eight-foot by 10-foot breakfast area. Just inside the entrance from the dining room is a space for a large utility closet plus a broom closet.

There is also a separate laundry room which is located between the breakfast area and a lavatory servicing this portion of the house.

The usefulness of the laundry room is increased through the installation of a door from this room leading to the side yard, a feature that will do much to ease the washday chore.

The two-car garage also has an entrance directly to the house, as there is a door at the rear of the garage opening into the short hall serving the laundry room and the lavatory. Off this same service hall opens

BUILDERS BRIEFS

Result of Poor Wax

Poor quality wax will often give a linoleum floor a sort of cloudy appearance. The only cure is to remove all the old wax—warm water will do this—and apply a good quality wax after the surface is dry.

Removing Marks

Marks on linoleum left by rubber shoe heels can be removed with fine steel wool and water if they won't respond to ordinary cleaners.

Useful Solvents

Turpentine or mineral spirits are used for cleaning off paint splatters, for thinning some oil paints, enamels and varnishes—also for soaking and cleaning brushes and rollers used in such coating materials.

Painting Tip

Avoid house painting in the hot rays of the sun. You'll keep cooler and obtain better results if you follow the shade around the house.

Detachable Cord

A new electric mixer has a convenient heel stand and a detachable cord for easier handling, and storing. It is available in yellow, white, turquoise.

the stairway to the full basement.

Three Bedrooms

Two of the bedrooms in the "Lomax" are at one extremity of the structure. Of these two rooms, the front one is the smallest, measuring 10 feet by 13 feet. The back bedroom is 11 feet by 13 feet. Between the two bedrooms, and entered from the short hall extending between the sleeping quarters, is the bathroom. The linen closet is located in the bathroom.

The front bedroom is equipped with two double size closets whose usage will be more effective if sliding doors are used.

The third bedroom is at the rear of the house and entered from a hall extending off the dining room. The third bedroom is as generously proportioned as the other two, measuring 10 feet by 11 feet.

This room is also equipped with a double-size closet. The owner of the "Lomax" will find a brick exterior most

Wax Window Grooves

Paste wax rubbed on window grooves will prevent windows from sticking in damp weather. And, wax on exposed sash cords will save wear and tear.

Mortar Comes Off

When repointing the mortar joints around brickwork, dampen the surrounding bricks before you start to work. If you do this, then any mortar that gets splashed on the bricks will be easier to remove.

Not for Window Sills

Flat oil paints are easily finger-marked and are not very satisfactory for window sills.

Bathroom Perk-Up

If the medicine chest in your bathroom has become a little jaded from use, rejuvenate it with a new coat of enamel to match the walls. Paint the inside to match the curtain, bath mat or other accessories.

Handrail Needed

Safety note: All stairs having four or more risers should have a hand rail on one side. Stairways 44 to 66 inches wide should have a handrail on each side.

Easy Does It

One new vacuum cleaner has a built-in caddy for carrying attachments. A door at the front of the cleaner gives access to a removable and disposable bag. When the door opens the bag detaches automatically.

Still in Use

The chignon was first adopted by French women as a hair style about 1780.

pleasing, although judicious combining of wood and masonry would not be out of place on this excellent house.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. Send requests with the name of house desired to Home of the Week, Inc., 87 Weybosset street, Providence, R. I.

'Pink Eyes'

In albinos, the eyes are pink because of the lack of black pigment causing the blood of the tiny vessels of the eye to show through the transparent parts of the eye. In normal eyes, the pink color is hidden by the color of the iris.

Seven years of drought dropped the Harvey County, Kan., water table 62 feet below ground level; six rainy months in 1957 raised it 24 feet.

Paint Both Screen, Frame

The frames of screens should be painted so that they match the color of their companion window and door frames. This may mean, of course, that the inside colors differ from the outer one. The screen wire should also be painted—on both sides—and before the frame is coated.

Steel or galvanized screens need the protective coating to prevent their rusting. While copper and bronze wire screens do not rust, they should also have a protective coating because a corrosive wash develops that stains and disfigures any light-colored areas below them.

Color Saves Temper

In one factory, different sizes of washers, rivets and gaskets were getting mixed up and workers were using wrong sizes in wrong places. This confusion was eliminated by painting the parts different colors—red washers one size, blue ones another, and so on down to the smallest. It was found that the color scheme made selection easier for the workmen. And if the wrong color parts get into another section, the mistake is noticed at a glance.

New Shower Cap

A new look in shower caps is one styled like a knight's helmet in a chiffon-finish plastic. The close-fitting cap fits sleek and snug over any hairdo to save waves. The back is cut low to fit down the nape of the neck. It is available in pink, blue, yellow, green with an Egyptian motif.

Worn Screwdriver

Worn or chipped screwdrivers can be made as good as new. Clamp the screwdriver in a vise, then file the end square with a metal file. A grinding wheel can be used too. But the screwdriver blade must be dipped in water frequently to prevent the metal from losing the temper.

Chalk Line Useful

A chalk line is useful as a guide when laying tiles or hanging wallpaper. Make one by stretching string between two nails near the surface of the floor or wall and rubbing chalk over the string. Lifting the string lightly and allowing it to snap back leaves a straight mark on the surface.

Liquid Masking Stuff

Painting window sashes and frames can be speeded by masking the window panes. Sometimes wet newspapers will suffice. Masking tape around the edges is frequently used. However, you can get liquid masking material at paint stores and this is speedily applied. It peels off like adhesive tape removing paint streaks with it.

Comb New Brush

Even the best paint brushes have a few loose bristles. Run a comb through a new brush before using it and whisk it against your fingers to release these strays and you won't be annoyed trying to pick bristles off a wet painted surface.

Bathroom Scale

How much do you weigh? A new carpeted bathroom scale will tell you and also add glamour to the room. It comes covered in deep-pile fabric in shades ranging from pink to mutation gray.

FOR FUN AND FUTURE—This "ride of the future" is shown here in an Akron, Ohio, amusement park, but its builders say it's more than an amusement ride. The first commercial monorail in the United States consists of three 11-foot-long cars with four double seats in each. A single overhead track 20 feet above the ground carries the monorail at speeds up to 60 m.p.h. The aluminum cars are powered by a four-cylinder engine. The five Akron residents who designed the monorail say it may be the answer to traffic problems in teeming cities. Surface traffic would be something passengers could just look down on—and relax.

New Process In Carpeting, Rug Industry

Changes have been taking place in the floor covering industry that provide carpeting and rugs at lower prices for millions of families moving into new homes or seeking to improve older residences.

One of the important postwar factors has been the growth of a carpet-making process called "tufting" which concentrates on making soft floor coverings chiefly from man-made fibers. Tufting has added a fourth type of weave to the variety of carpets available for consumer selection.

In a decade the process has grown from virtually a standing start until last year more than 40 per cent of all the carpets and rugs produced in the U. S. A. were products of tufting machines.

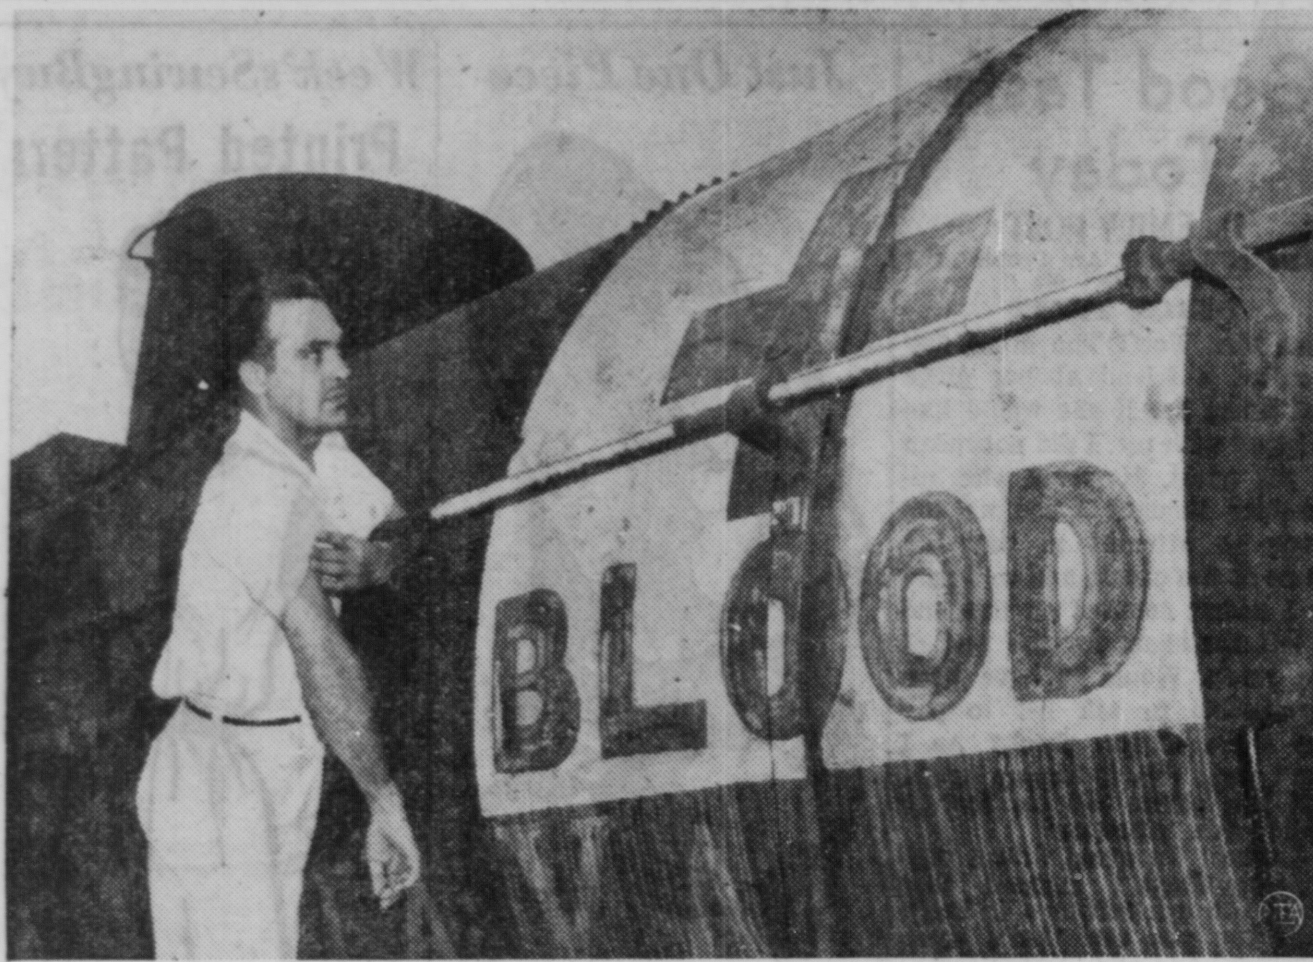

A tufted rug is not woven on a loom but is made on a machine which performs an operation that is a variation on knitting and sewing. A piece of yarn is punched down through a fabric by a needle, caught by a hook and held, and withdrawn through the fabric to form a tuft. Some machines have over a thousand needles all, buzzing simultaneously.

Home owners very often paint the numbers of their houses on garbage cans, so that the right garbage cans are returned to the right houses.

When the numbers are painted on galvanized steel cans, the paint often wears off in a few months. But if the galvanized surface is wiped first with a cloth dampened in a half-and-half mixture of vinegar and water, the paint will cling to the metal better and last three or four times longer.

Fast Buzzer

The common house fly moves its wings nearly 20,000 times a minute.

BY THE GALLON—A sight to make any local Red Cross blood bank green with envy is this tank car parked on a siding in Gainesville, Ga. Herbert Wehnt, rolling up his sleeve, isn't anemic, but even if he were he couldn't get the right kind of blood from the tank car. The only kind of "blood" it contains is the kind that is shed in gas wars. The sign on the tank was evidently painted during a Red Cross blood drive, but a jokester removed the word "give."

Prepare Children For School Term, Is Soper Advice

Earl F. Soper, superintendent of schools, pointed out today that this is the time of year for parents to get children ready for entering school in September. He noted that children may enter the kindergartens of the Kingston schools in September only if they are five not later than Dec. 8. Evidence of age is required.

For the first few days of the school year morning kindergartens will be in session from 8:45-10:15 while afternoon groups will be in session from 12:45-2:15. This will give the kindergarten teachers an opportunity to hold parent conferences.

Kindergarten teachers and the sessions scheduled for 1957-58 listed: Mrs. Ruth Wally, School 2, morning and afternoon sessions; Miss Rosemary Scully, School 3, morning and afternoon sessions; Miss Betsy Hall, School 4, afternoon session only; Miss Betsy Hall and Miss Helen Lowe, School 5, two morning and one afternoon sessions; Miss Alberta Davis and Mrs. Winifred O'Neill, School 6, two morning and one afternoon sessions; Mrs. Anna Sitzer, School 7, morning and afternoon session; Mrs. Winifred O'Neill, School 8, afternoon session only; Mrs. Charlotte McLean and Mrs. Mary Lane, George Washington School, two morning and two afternoon sessions.

Good Health Vital

Mr. Soper pointed out the value of good health for young children entering school. The family physician and dentist should advise each family on such matters as children are prepared for school opening.

New children entering the elementary school are asked to register at the school Wednesday, Sept. 4. A report card, evidence of age, and school transfer greatly assist the local authorities in placing the child in the proper grade to start school.

New pupils entering grade seven or eight should register immediately at the guidance office at the MJM School. New pupils entering grades nine through 12 should register at the guidance office at Kingston High School.

As previously reported in the press, all eighth grade students will attend MJM School. Students advancing to seventh grade will attend George Washington School, grade seven, if living in the School 6, School 7, Grade 8 or George Washington elementary areas. Those children advancing to grade seven living in School 2, School 3, School 4 and School 5 areas will attend MJM School grade seven. Students report to the Kingston Schools Wednesday, Sept. 4. The school faculty meets Tuesday, Sept. 3, for meetings and conferences.

Foolproof Driveway?

A foolproof driveway that will steer your car for you can be made by driving a car one or two times over newly poured concrete. The ruts created are then smoothed along their edges to form shallow troughs. For a long S-curved driveway, this lets the driver take his hands from the wheel when backing out or driving in and the tires follow the precast tracks.

Make Certain Home Building Plot Is Level

If possible, choose a home building plot that's on the level. Excessive sloping land is difficult to maintain and involves costly upkeep.

For instance, it may be necessary to build a retaining wall or plant special shrubbery to keep your land from sliding away. Other desired additions to your home, perhaps a terrace or breezeway, are more difficult to build on irregular terrain.

Level ground can also give an increased feeling of space inside the house. If the floors of rooms and the ground surface are near the same level, the area inside seems much larger. Large windows and doors add to this impression.

Studless Walls Can Be Insulated

Farm buildings and other structures built without inside wall studs can be insulated with mineral wool blankets. A popular method is to attach the blankets to the wall with furring strips. Nails and washers, nailing clips, or one of the common types of metal clips which stick to the walls with adhesive also can be used.

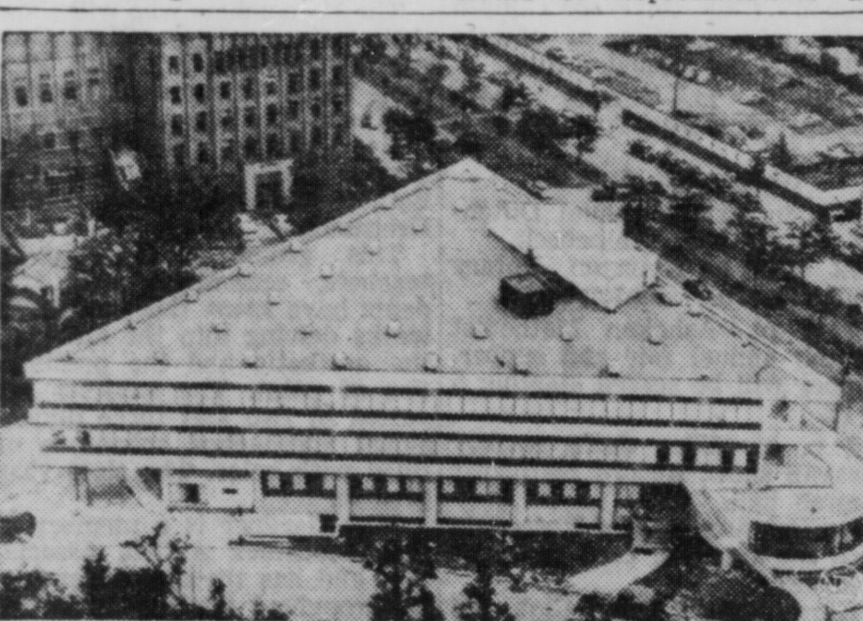

When the mineral wool is in place, insulation engineers advise covering it with a vapor barrier of waterproof paper. Lower sections of the walls can be protected by a wainscoting of wood or metal.

Wax Window Trim

A quick shower when the windows are open will often leave stains on the inside window trim. If you coat this trim with paste wax, the stains won't remain and the paint will last longer.

Plush Weigh-In

One new glamor scale is carpeted luxuriously in fur-like plush. It combines a fleecy blend of orlon and nylon, is stain resistant and easy to clean. The scale has a magnified dial for easier reading.

ONE FOR THE BOOKS—Tokyo's new Hibiya Library is built in a triangular shape to add durability against earthquakes and typhoons. Air-conditioned and sound-proofed, it will house 300,000 books and accommodate 1,000 persons at a time. It will be opened in November.

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director Veteran's Service Agency, and William Hartman, state veteran counselor NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, submit another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

RESERVE—Members of the Volunteer Reserve who are required to travel between their principal place of business to another location where authorized Reserve Officer meetings are held may be entitled to deduct the cost of transportation in computing Federal income tax. To be eligible the Reservist must return the same night to his residence or place where his employment is located. Also the transportation expense claimed for deduction cannot exceed the amount the Reservist actually spent.

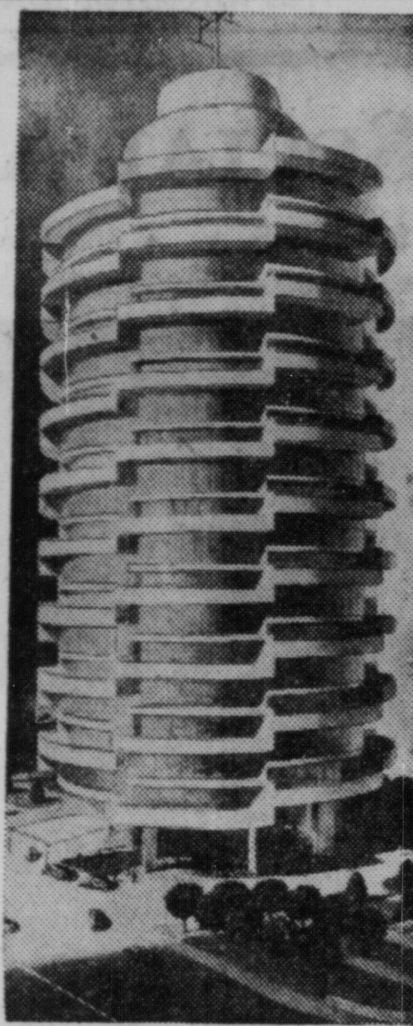

EDUCATION—This agency has an up-to-date directory of educational institutions in New York State offering courses below the college level approved under the Korean GI Bill. Veterans who contemplate attending school under the GI Bill must be in training within three years of their separation from active service or lose their educational rights. There are many schools in New York which a veteran may attend to take advantage of this GI benefit.

KOREAN VETS—A veteran of the Korean Conflict may receive vocational guidance and counseling from the Veterans Administration. This offer of assistance is to aid the prospective trainee in determining what job he may best perform in civilian life. The veteran may obtain this service by indicating on his GI training application that he wants such counseling.

CONGRESS—The U. S. House of Representatives has a Committee on Veterans' Affairs which considers all legislation pertaining to veterans. There is no similar committee in the U. S. Senate. Legislation pertaining to veterans in the upper house is processed through the Finance Committee or the Labor and Public Welfare Committees. It is held generally by most major veteran organizations and some legislators that veteran legislation would receive more adequate consideration and higher priority if it were handled by a separate committee. Attempts have been made since 1946 to establish a separate veteran committee but the resolutions have never been passed by the Senate Rules Committee. Another resolution has been introduced this year in the Senate to establish a Senate Committee on Veterans' Affairs. It is the belief of the sponsor of this resolution that such a committee would be beneficial to veteran legislation.

DIVIDENDS—National Service Life Insurance dividends may be retained by the Veterans Administration as a credit to the account of an insured and be used to pay premiums. The entire dividend, however, is not applied in a lump sum. The credit is used on a monthly basis to prevent the lapse of the insurance whenever a premium is not paid on time. Any unused balance held for a year will earn interest at the rate of three per cent a year.

PENSION—A bill which proposes to liberalize the definition of widow for pension purposes has been passed by the U. S. House of Representatives and sent to the U. S. Senate for consideration.

WELL ROUNDED—The latest in modern building design is this apartment Helix. The circular building, designed by a New York architect, has great flexibility—12-room apartments can be turned into 3-4-room apartments in a few hours. It provides large outdoor areas.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office at 32 Main Street, Kingston.

DUTCH TREAT

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I called a friend at her office and asked her if she would like to lunch with me. I did not mean as my guest. However, she apparently thought I did as she made no attempt to pay her share of the check, and so I paid it. I hadn't counted on this and it left me short for the rest of the week. Would it have been permissible to ask her to pay her share of the check? As I don't want this to happen again, will you please tell me how to avoid this situation?

Answer: To avoid future misunderstandings I suggest that when you ask someone to lunch with you you say "Let's lunch together" and add "Dutch treat" so that she will know you are to share the check.

A Hostess Seats Her Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: How does a hostess enter the dining room when she is giving a lunch or a dinner? Does she enter first so that she can tell her guests where to sit?

Answer: When there are place cards on the table she always enters the room last. At a formal dinner her husband goes first with the guest of honor. The other guests go in as they happen to come, and she herself goes last. When there are no place cards, at luncheon, for example, she customarily slips into the dining room not first but among the first and while slowly going toward her place, tells the different ones where to sit. She remains standing at her place until all are seated.

Tips When Living in a Hotel

Dear Mrs. Post: I live in a hotel as a permanent guest. Would you say that I might tip those who wait on me, such as the doorman, elevator men, the maid who does my rooms, etc., less than every month when I pay my bill?

Answer: A permanent guest in a hotel is the same as in an apartment house and no apartment occupant feels obliged to make the rounds once a month. A tip at Christmas and when you leave for your vacation (if you do) and a tip perhaps for an especial service by someone, is proper.

Type and color of stationary for social use is described in booklet No. 502, "The Etiquette of Letter Writing." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

To Exhibit Onteora Adult Program Art At Area Playhouse

Onteora Adult Education Advisory Committee will sponsor a painting exhibit at Phoenicia Playhouse during August 27 through the Labor Day holidays.

The exhibition will feature paintings completed by members of the current summer adult class under the instruction of Miss B. Sturtevant Gardner.

The 12 members who will show their paintings are: Olive Gulnac, Sylvia Gassner, Ruth Posner, Edith Zuckerman, Sophie Hoffman, Deborah Goldberg, Claire Friedberg, Karen Larsen, Eunice Fallig, Anne Newman, Esther Jacobson and Lottie Kreisman.

This group of housewives, teachers, secretaries and students have spent the past seven weeks delving into the abstract, the aesthetic and the possibilities of paint. The subjects are varied in two and three dimensional approaches, monotone or filled with color. The sizes vary greatly.

Miss Gardner is a member of the Woodstock Artists Association and has traveled extensively throughout South and Central America. A number of her oil paintings created abroad and in the Catskill region will also be displayed. Patrons to the theatre are cordially invited to view the display located in both the lobby and the orchestra.

Onteora Central Sets Tax Rates

Onteora Central School officials announced today that the tax rates for 1957-58 in the various towns comprising the district are as follows:

Woodstock, $59.023. Lexington, $46.893. Shandaken, $24.590. Olive, $55.330. Hurley, $21.079. Marlbtown, $28.111.

In the West Hurley District (Hurley 5) there will be an additional surtax of $8.245 to pay for the existing bonded indebtedness which had been incurred prior to the time this district was annexed to the Onteora Central District. Therefore, in West Hurley, the total tax rate will be $29.324. All rates are per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The Central District has a total assessed valuation this year of $15,006,884, and a true valuation of $66,234,487. The tax rate on true value is $8.853 which is one of the lowest compared to the average tax rate on true throughout the state. Collection of taxes in the Central District will start Aug. 31 and end Oct. 31. From Aug. 31 to midnight Sept. 29, no interest will be collected. From Sept. 30 to midnight Oct. 29, there will be a 1 per cent interest charge and from Oct. 30 to midnight Oct. 31, the interest charge is 2 per cent. Tax bills are not considered paid until payments are in the hands of the collector and until checks have been cleared by the banks. Receipts for payments made by check will be held for 10 days.

Mrs. Frances L. Whiting, Glenford, school tax collector, will be at the following locations to receive school tax payments on the dates indicated: Firehouse, Pine Hill, Sept. 3, 10:30-4:30. Town Hall, Allaben, Sept. 4, 10:30-4:30. Bush's Store,

Butcherbird

Common name of the shrike is butcherbird, coming from their habit of thrusting mice and smaller birds onto thorns or forked twigs, much as a butcher hangs meat on hooks. Shrikes then tear their prey to pieces and eat it.

Thruway Express Lane to Be Open For Sunday Rush

The New York State Thruway Authority announced today that a 27-mile extension of its line operated Sunday afternoon temporary southbound express during peak traffic periods in the New York City area would be available to motorists this Sunday.

Acting Chairman David J. Martin said operation of the 13-mile southbound express line between Spring Valley toll bridge and the Tappan Zee Bridge barrier had greatly relieved the temporary traffic congestion Sunday afternoons and had led to plans for establishing the extra lane from Harriman to the Yonkers barrier, a distance of 40 miles.

First Used June 30

The additional southbound lane was first used on June 30 this year following a Thruway staff survey which indicated that the heavy flow of city-bound traffic into the Thruway from the Palisades Interstate Parkway caused temporary congestion in the area. The reverse Thruway lane has been operated each Sunday afternoon since, for a few hours during peak traffic periods.

Southbound motorists will now be able to enter the express lane just north of the Harriman interchange over a specially-constructed black-top cross-over and continue to the Yonkers barrier. Traffic cones spaced each 100 feet will separate north-bound traffic from the south-bound express lane and additional signs have been prepared notifying motorists that they will be able to leave the express lane only at the Spring Valley and Tappan Zee Bridge barriers.

The express lane crossover north of Harriman is expected to permit a more rapid flow of southbound traffic from the Harriman interchange by partially emptying one lane just north of the interchange.

Evangelist Bids 16,000 to Attend Broadway Meeting

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy Graham has urged New Yorkers to shun spiritual death and transform the city's streets into "paths of God."

Graham urged 16,500 persons at Madison Square Garden last night to join with him in an open air meeting at Broadway and 42nd Street on Sunday, Sept. 1, when his New York Crusade ends. The crusade began May 15.

"What a symbol it would be in this city of teen-age violence, gangsterism and labor racketeering," Graham said, "to see a crowd of people singing the gospel of Christ in Times Square."

At the same time, he offered the city the same challenge that Moses offered the people of Israel as they reached the threshold of the promised land: "Choose you this day, life or death."

There were 458 "decisions for Christ" last night.

Americans spent 117 dollars on vacations in the Caribbean area last year. This does not include cost of transportation.

West opened the ace of clubs and continued the suit. Eventually South lost one club, one diamond, one heart and two trumps and was down 500.

Not a tremendous penalty but an unnecessary one and North and South have asked me to discuss the bidding and assess the blame for the loss.

North feels that South should have opened three spades or merely bid three spades after East's double of the three-club bid. In that case the North and South loss would have been 100 points only.

South feels that North should have let him play two spades, in which instance North and South would have shown a profit.

I have no criticism of either a one-spade or a three-spade opening with the South hand. I can't condemn his jump to four spades either, although I would have bid three spades only.

South only had 11 high-card points and except for his one ace they all were represented by queens and jacks.

I also would definitely have dropped the bidding at two spades if I had held the North cards, but again I cannot condemn North. He was void in spades and it was possible that hearts or clubs would work out as a better contract. Still, when my partner rebids a suit that I am void of I always pull in my horns as far as possible.

Finally, North and South should not be too greatly upset. Move the ten of spades over to the East hand and the king of hearts over to the West hand and South will romp home with his four-spade contract.

Heroin Overdose Fatal to Youth

NEW YORK (AP)—A 19-year-old auto mechanic died of a narcotics overdose yesterday. Police said he took a second shot of heroin after deciding the first gave him no kick.

Two companions delivered the body of Francis J. Tubbi of Queens to Queens General Hospital.

Police quoted the companions, Richard Stevenski, 18, of Queens, and Walter Winner, 21, of Brooklyn as saying each of the three took a heroin shot at Winner's home.

They said Tubbi became ill and unconscious after his second shot. They carried him to his automobile and drove around looking for a hospital. He was dead when they located Queens General Hospital 1½ hours later.

Winner and Stevenski were charged with violating the Public Health Law.

Palance Accused On Adultery Count

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The wife of actor Jack Palance has sued for separate maintenance, charging that he beat her, was habitually intemperate and committed adultery.

Mrs. Virginia Baker Palance, former stage actress, asked for $4,500 a month support for herself and $1,000 a month for each of their three children. They were wed in New York in 1949.

Palance, 37, won the 1956 Emmy Award for the best performance by an actor on television, and his wife estimated he will earn $800,000 this year.

In her suit, filed yesterday, Mrs. Palance accused her husband of having committed adultery with "various persons." None was named.

Catskill Golfer Wins Woodstock Open With Total of 101

Seeley Shades
3 Well-Known
Pros by 1 Stroke
Dutchess Swinger Cops
First Prize Money

A reformed Catskill professional led the biggest field in the Woodstock Open's history with a 27-hole total of 101 Friday on the sun-kissed village links.

A total of 88 players competed. Bill Seeley who emerged from the cataphora at Catskill Country Club to the professional ranks and later regained his amateur status, fired nines of 36-33-32 to edge three well-known pros by one stroke for the coveted title.

A stroke behind the brilliant shot-maker, who was a protege of Alex Gerlak, came three professional veterans of the area golf trail—Frank Tomeselli of Southern Dutchess at Beacon; Armand Farina of Schenectady, a four time winner of the tournament, and Charlie DeStefano of College Hill, Poughkeepsie.

DeStefano Wins Playoff
In a three-way playoff for the top professional prize, which ended in near darkness about 8 p. m., DeStefano recovered from a poor drive with a wedge shot and a 10-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole to win the $100 first prize, Farina who just missed his birdie and Tomeselli, the surprise early leader, got down in par fours to share second and third money.

Seeley scorched the rolling Woodstock links with a five-under-par 65 on the last 18 holes. He birdied the fourth, fifth and seventh holes on the last nine. Tomeselli had a 102 early in the day and it took two brilliant nines by DeStefano and Farina to match his 102 score. DeStefano bagged five birdies on his third nine for a 31 which tied professional Bob Smith of Albany for low nine of the day. He had birds on the first, fourth, fifth, eighth, and ninth, canning a curling eight-footer on the 27th green to tie Tomeselli.

Birdies 26th
Farina, the doughty Schenectady veteran knocked in a two-foot birdie putt on the 26th hole and then dropped a curling, uphill seven-footer before a large crowd on the 27th green.

Tied at 104 were Fred Lux, Dutchess Country Club, and Walter Browne a West Point professional who won the 1956 title playoff from Art Stuhler, Ray Billows, the prominent Poughkeepsie amateur, also posted a 104.

Other scores were Clifton Stratton, Antlers amateur and Fred Davis, Gloversville, each with 105, and Steve Kay, Sharon Springs, Bob Smith, Albany and Stu Smith, Schenectady, with 106 totals.

Stuhler, from Pittsfield, carded a 107 and Gerlak, the Twaalfskill pro, a 108.

Final nine score of three deadlocked pros:

Par—444—354—443—35
DeStefano—344—244—532
Tomeselli—444—453—432—33
Farina—343—354—444—34

Venturi Paces Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP)—To hear his fellow pros tell it, San Francisco's Ken Venturi can't miss being a big winner.

He took a stride toward his second consecutive tournament victory yesterday by sweeping into the 36-hole lead of the $35,000 Milwaukee Open golf tournament by one stroke. The 26-year-old amateur dealer shot a 4-under-par 66 at the 6,355-yard Tripoli Golf Club for a second round total of 134, six under.

Breathing down his neck with 135s after beating par and some of the worst weather of the tour were Bob Rossburg of San Francisco; Don Whitt, another Californian from Alameda; and Canada's Al Balding.

Chief Crazy Horse, the Sioux leader, and not Sitting Bull, was responsible for the Custer massacre.

Colonials Sign Ostrom; Play Bullets Tonight

Billy The Kid at Stadium Tuesday

The Kingston Colonials are bringing back a Dietz Stadium legend to share the spotlight with the incomparable Al Schacht and the Boston Hoboes Tuesday night at the uptown ball park.

Manager Fred Davi today announced the signing of Bill (The Kid) Ostrom, the fabulous pre-war Kingston Recreation pitcher-slugger to play first base against the Hoboes.

Ostrom is currently employed by the Staatsburg Knickerbockers of the New York-New Jersey League and in a recent game against Kingston belted two singles, a triple and homer in four times at bat.

Manager Davi was elated to have Ostrom in the lineup against the colorful Hoboes.

"He's the same old Ostrom," said Davi. "He may not be the pitcher he was for the old Recreation but he still has that beautiful batting form and hits with as much power as ever. I'm sure many of the Recreation fans will be glad to see Billy back in town."

Schacht will put on a half-hour show starting at 7:15 p. m., with the game between the Colonials and the Hoboes getting under way shortly after.

The Colonials are scheduled to play the New York Bullets in a two-night doubleheader tonight at Dietz Stadium. Ernie Souza and Jack Houghtaling have been named Colonial starters.

USTA Official Hits Commission In Batavia Case

NEW YORK (AP)—The State Harness Racing Commission could have done a better job investigating an alleged fix at Batavia Downs in 1955 in the opinion of the executive vice-president of the U. S. Trotting Assn.

Don R. Miller, the USTA official, testified yesterday at the hearing being held to determine Harness Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan's fitness to hold office.

Miller made public his own report on the incident.

"If the investigation had been discreetly and intelligently conducted," it said, "the principals might all have been rounded up and given adequate penalties."

Others, who "went along," should also have been identified and penalized.

Monaghan previously had testified that as a result of the investigation, the commission had suspended Don Camardo, a Rochester owner, for life and three others for lesser periods.

Basilio Issues Warning to Ray

ALEXANDRIA BAY (AP)—If Sugar Ray Robinson does not fight Sept. 23, Carmen Basilio says, "he can forget about fighting Basilio at all."

Robinson has said he was calling off the match with Basilio because he objected to the International Boxing Club's sale of television rights.

Basilio, in training in this Lake Ontario resort, said yesterday he hoped "for the sake of the millions of sports fans," that Robinson would go through with the bout.

The challenger said he was "convinced more than ever that Ray is afraid to fight me...."

Alhambra, Dedicate Top Spa Entries

By The Associated Press

Alhambra and Dedicate, both of whom lost rich stakes through disqualifications, were favored today in the two richest races on the national turf program as they seek to bolster their respective bids for the 1957 two-year old and handicap division titles.

Fred Hooper's Alhambra placed among the also rans in the rich Arlington Park Futurity after a stablemate had been found guilty of a foul, heads a field of nine in the $75,000 added Washington Park Futurity. The Miami-owned juvenile has finished first in his six outings.

$50,000 Handicap

Dedicate, owned by Mrs. Jan Burke, goes after the mile and one-quarter of the $50,000 added Saratoga Handicap in his first start since losing top money of $65,000 in the Atlantic City Handicap because of a foul.

Dedicate picks up 127 pounds in the Saratoga Handicap and gives weight to such capable performers as Ricci Tavi, Thinking Cap, Riling and Searching. With 12 starting, the race has a gross value of $59,100. The Saratoga fixture will be televised (CBS) with a post time of 5:20 p. m.

Louis D'Or ($12,600) sped to a 2½-length triumph in the $18,025 Sanford stakes for 2-year-olds at Saratoga yesterday.

Grid Giants Rout Rams

By The Associated Press

The world champion New York football Giants continued to rumble down the exhibition trail, as they rolled over the Los Angeles Rams 24-7 Friday night for their second straight win. Detroit Lions came on with a great third period surge to down the Philadelphia Eagles 34-27 in Toledo, Ohio's Glass Bowl.

The Giants scored in every quarter with Frank Gifford scoring two touchdowns.

The Lions, also winning their second in a row, were down 20-10 at halftime. With Bobby Layne throwing two td passes and setting up another score, they scored 21-points in the third quarter.

Fights Last Night

DETROIT (AP)—Isaac Logart, 146, outpointed Walter Byars, 146½, Boston, 10.

Gotham Swimmer Fourth to Cross Lake Ontario

TORONTO (AP)—Swimming instructor Bill Sadlo, 57, of New York City, touched a Toronto breakwater last night and became the fourth person to swim across Lake Ontario.

Observers said he was the freshest looking swimmer ever to complete the 32-mile grind from the mouth of the Niagara River to Toronto. Sadlo, a high-school teacher in New York's Harlem district, spent 25 hours and 10 minutes in the water.

The veteran marathoner left Youngstown, N. Y., at 9:45 p. m. Thursday and reached the breakwater at 10:55 last night.

Two boats—a rowboat and a 30-foot cruiser—accompanied the U. S. teacher on the swim. Marathon swimmer Fred Higgins of Guelph, Ont., paced for about four miles near the end.

Best time recorded for the 32-mile swim was in 1956, when British Brenda Fisher finished in 18 hours, 50 minutes.

Woodling Latest Tormentor Ex-Teammates Causing Yankees Plenty of Woe

By The Associated Press

What goes here? The New York Yankees, who seldom let a good man get away, suddenly have lost three of four with ex-mates doing the damage while their American League lead has dipped to 5½ games.

It's all come on the champs' last 1957 trip through the West, the tour that was supposed to nail the pennant, but good.

So what happens? They lose two of three at Kansas City, with ex-Yankees Ralph Terry and Jack Urban the winning pitchers and ex-Yankees Woody Held, Bob Cerv and Billy Martin batting in or scoring the big runs.

Woodling Tribe Hero

Then ex-Yank Gene Woodling took a crack at them last night, rapping a two-run homer and two singles in his first four trips before doubling home the winner as Cleveland made off with a 5-4 decision in 10 innings.

That whittled another game off the Yankee lead as the Chicago White Sox, with Billy Pierce winning his 17th on a four-hitter, defeated Boston 4-1.

Dodger Rally Wins

In the National League, Milwaukee blew a 2-0 lead in the ninth and lost 3-2 at Brooklyn. The Braves retained their 6½-game lead as Philadelphia rallied for a 3-2 decision over second place St. Louis with ex-Cardinal Rip Repulski driving in all the Phillie runs.

The Cards now have a one-point edge over Brooklyn, also 6½ back.

Cincinnati finally shelved the longest losing streak in the NL this season—10—beating Pittsburgh 6-0 on Joe Nuxhall's four-hitter. The New York Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 16 innings, matching the longest game in the league this year while loser Bob Rush went all the way for the longest stint in the majors.

In the other AL games, Connie Johnson beat Kansas City with a three hitter for a 2-1, 12-inning Baltimore victory; and Detroit pounded Washington 13-4 with Al Kaline driving in five runs.

The Yankees, who wrap up the western trip with three games at Chicago beginning Tuesday, scored three in the ninth, starting with Gil McDougald's home run, for a tie that chased Ray Nileski. But Mike Garcia came on and killed the rally by striking out Mickey Mantle, who was 0-for-4 and skidded to 373.

Relief ace Bob Grim walked Bobby Avila and lost it as Woodling tried to duck away from a pitch and wound up with a two-bagger down the left field line.

Pierce, the majors' top winner, struck out seven and walked two while keeping Ted Williams hitless in four trips. Williams average fell to .382.

Saugerties Club Plans Discussion On New Clubhouse

A finance campaign to raise funds for a clubhouse will be outlined at the regular meeting of Saugerties Fish and Game Club Monday at 8 p. m. in Saugerties Municipal Building.

Further plans for posting of Saugerties area wood and farm lands will be discussed.

A showing of two sound-color motion pictures on the outdoor theme will be offered during the refreshments.

Ferraro Homers, Flips Shutout To Down Brooks

Mike Ferraro was practically the whole show yesterday as the 156th FAB Red Sox blanked the Dodgers, 3-0, to capture the American Little League championship.

Ferraro poled a two-run homer in the third and fired a brilliant three-hitter as the Sox took the rubber game of the three-game series. The Sox ace added more glamor to his triumph by striking out 15, and walking just one.

Thomas Loses Heartbreaker

Ron Thomas, the Dodger hurler, also flipped a three-hitter and probably would have won on any other day but yesterday. He lost the game on Ferraro's blast and then was tapped for an unearned run in the fifth. His strikeout total added up to 10 and he passed just one.

John Pugliese doubled off Ferraro for the only other extra base hit.

Exhibition Game Set

The ALL all-stars will face the Town of Ulster stars in an exhibition game next Wednesday at the ULL field at 3:45 p. m.

A week from today (Aug. 31), the Red Sox will tackle D-D's Drive-In Giants, ULL champions.

The boxscore:

Dodgers (0)

Bob Smith, 1b 3 0 0

Len Bovee, c 3 0 1

Ron Thomas, p 3 0 1

Reuther Pressing For Joint Fight On Inflation Move

DETROIT (AP)—President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers Union says he will continue to press for a joint union-management fight on inflation despite rejection by two of the auto industry's big three car makers of his first proposal.

Chrysler Corp. yesterday joined General Motors Corp. in turning down Reuther's suggestion that the big three cut prices on 1958 cars $100 in exchange for unspecified union concessions in new contract bargaining in the spring. Reuther has billed his proposal as an attack on the inflationary price-wage spiral.

No Ford Answer

Ford Motor Co., which with GM and Chrysler comprise the big three, has not as yet replied to the Reuther proposal. An answer is expected over the weekend.

Chrysler's reply, like GM's of Thursday, agreed with Reuther of the need to halt inflation.

Neither company, however, agreed with the UAW president that the pricing of its product was rightly a matter to be settled at the bargaining table.

"It would be just as logical," President L. L. Colbert of Chrysler said, "for the automobile industry to ask members of the UAW to take an immediate and sizable wage cut, which the companies would then 'take into consideration' in pricing their 1958 automobiles."

Against Wage Cut

Reuther already has said that the UAW would not agree to any wage reduction to match his suggested cut in the factory price of new cars. But he has said that further union bargaining with the auto companies would be conducted "under the framework of the economic conditions" resulting from his proposed car price cut.

Hourly rates auto workers now get about $2.30 an hour.

GM, in rejecting the Reuther plan, suggested instead that the UAW extend its GM contract two years as a "contribution to economic stability."

Parks to Remain Open for Group Activity Events

Supervised play activities by the Recreation Department ended at 5 p. m. Friday, but parks will remain open for several weeks for picnics, clambakes and other group activities. Andrew J. Murphy 3rd, superintendent of recreation, announced today.

Kingston Point Beach will remain open next week from 10:30 a. m. until 5:30 p. m., Murphy said.

"The department's new policy in using teachers as senior supervisors in the various play areas worked out exceedingly well with a very varied program being offered," Murphy said.

The season's program ended, he said, with the exhibiting of arts and crafts, made by the children in the different parks, at the Ulster County Fair in Forsyth Park.

He noted a great variety of craft projects were taught during the summer, "and the comments at the fair booth all were flattering." The booth was manned by Mary Donahue and Gay Gerlack, Forsyth Park supervisors.

3 Hospitalized After Accident At Clintondale

Three teenage youths were admitted to Vassar Bros. Hospital, Poughkeepsie, late Friday night after the 1951 sedan in which they were riding on Tucker's Corners Road near Clintondale went out of control and struck a utility pole.

In fair condition at the hospital were Robert Conklin, 16, with a fractured right leg and multiple lacerations, Betty Jane Bennett, 16, lacerations of the head and body, and Vincent Cristaldi, 17, multiple abrasions. All are from Clintondale.

Paul Minard, 17, Clintondale, was treated for a bruised ankle and abrasions of the body.

Highland state police reported that Evelyn Conklin, 19, of Clintondale, owner and operator of the car, was proceeding west when she lost control of the vehicle which left the highway, struck guard rails, swung back across the road, climbed an embankment and struck a utility pole.

Time of the mishap was 11:15 p. m.

World's first mile of concrete road was laid on Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan, in 1908.

Magazine Trial To Enter Fourth Week on Monday

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The criminal libel trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines goes into its fourth week Monday with the first of the long-expected movie star-witnesses yet to take the stand. As the trial lengthened, the prospects of a star-studded cast appeared to dwindle.

When the trial resumes after the weekend recess, defendant Fred Meade will return to the stand for more cross-examination.

Witnesses in Doubt

Defense Atty. Arthur J. Crowley says he doesn't know who he will call to the stand after Meade.

Crowley's original plan to call 100 or more celebrities as witnesses was blocked when Judge Herbert V. Walker ruled that such testimony be confined to 13 stories read into the trial record by the prosecution. This left Crowley with a considerable slimmer list of prospective witnesses.

Meade testified yesterday that collecting Hollywood scandal for Confidential and Whisper magazines was a $100,000-a-year business.

He said the magazines paid Hollywood Research Inc., $150,000 for checking and supplying information for scandal stories from July 1955, to February 1956.

Meade and his wife, Marjorie, also a defendant, operated Hollywood Research. Mrs. Meade is a niece of publisher Robert Harpster of Confidential and Whisper.

Would Have N. Y. Others Pay Back Surplus of 1837

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's not so much the money, Rep. Tom Steed says, it's having to carry the items on the books for 120 years.

The Oklahoma Democrat introduced yesterday a bill that would direct the secretary of the Treasury to order a group of states—New York included—to return to the U. S. Treasury $28,101,644 deposited with them in 1837 when the government had a surplus.

Steed said the main purpose of the bill was to force the issue and remove from the Treasury's books items it has had to keep on carrying forward for 120 years.

In 1837, Steed told a reporter, the federal government owed no money, paid all of its bills, and had a surplus of over 28 millions.

"There was no provision for such a situation and no authorized place to keep the money," he said. "Congress, in its wisdom, directed the secretary of the Treasury to deposit the surplus with the then existing states on a per capita basis, to remain there until its return was directed."

That never has been done, Steed said.

Boston Still Out Detroit Paper Strike Is Over

DETROIT (AP)—A labor dispute which started eight days ago and closed down Detroit's three major daily newspapers was settled today.

In Boston, Gov. Foster Furcolo said he will attempt Monday to bring about settlement of a strike that has shut down six daily newspapers in that city for two weeks.

A dispute over refusal of mailers to work beyond a 15-hour, double-shift at the Detroit News last Saturday resulted in picketing and refusal of the Teamsters Union to cross picket lines there.

The Detroit Times and the Free Press also closed, saying a strike against one member of the Detroit Newspaper Publishers Assn. was a strike against all three. The International Mailers Union which claimed to represent the News mailers, termed the action a lockout.

Today's settlement, announced shortly after 7 a. m., followed James R. Hoffa's joining of negotiations. Hoffa, midwest teamster boss, flew here from Washington, where he was a witness before the Senate rackets committee.

5,000 Out in Boston

The Publishers Association and mailers Local 40 of the International Typographical Union issued this brief statement announcing publication would be resumed today.

"The publishers and ITU mailers will meet at 2 p. m. to process grievances according to the contract. Publication of all three papers will be resumed today."

Gov. Furcolo announced yesterday he called a conference of both sides after receiving a letter from the Boston local of the American Newspaper Guild.

The strike of 300 mailing room employees has idled 5,000 newspaper men and women, 800 of whom are members of the Newspaper Guild.

The governor said he would meet first with officials of the Mailers Union, an affiliate of the International Typographical Union, and later with representatives of the publishers.

All Will Attend

Then he will try to bring both sides together in a joint conference, the governor said.

Both sides indicated they would attend the conference.

Of the seven daily newspapers published in Boston, only the Christian Science Monitor was not affected by the strike.

The publishers' most recent offer, which they called final—would give the mailers a $10.50 a week package increase over a two year period.

The mailers, who handle newspapers from presses to loading platforms, asked for an immediate $8 weekly increase retroactive to Jan. 1. Their current scale is $94.13 a week.

Bill Before Ike On U. S., Overseas Military Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—A money bill containing about 1½ billion dollars for military construction in this country and overseas has reached the White House.

The bill had been shuttled back and forth between the Senate and the House in a dispute over some items.

The new compromise was drafted by a Senate-House conference Thursday, and the House passed it yesterday—the third time this month it had acted on some version of the catch-all measure. The Senate passed it shortly afterward by voice vote, sending the bill to the White House.

The measure carries a total appropriation of $1,734,011,947, about 238 million less than the President requested, 153 million more than the House originally voted, and 90 million below original Senate recommendations.

A bill to authorize the military construction projects also has been sent to the White House.

The measure passed yesterday includes these New York State projects:

Air Defense Command: Niagara Falls—MAP $2,149,000; Stewart AFB $720,000; Suffolk County AFB $956,000.

Air Materiel Command: Griffiss AFB $13,351,000; Griffiss AVA and stock $922,000.

Continental Air Command: Mitchell AFB $337,000.

Strategic Air Command: Plattsburgh AFB $2,561,000.

Colonel Is Cleared of 4 Charges

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP)—With tears in his eyes, a 41-year-old combat veteran said "I sure feel fine," over and over again after being acquitted yesterday by a general court-martial of four charges of negligent homicide.

The eight-member court cleared Lt. Col. Walter P. Berger, Philadelphia, Pa., in connection with the deaths of four soldiers from mortar fire during a mock infantry attack at the Army's artillery center here June 22.

Two-thirds Vote Needed

Berger also was found innocent of a charge of dereliction of duty. It would have taken a two-thirds majority to convict the bespectacled officer. Maximum sentence for the charge would have been discharge, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and four years at hard labor.

In his testimony yesterday, Berger stated that Lt. Col. Walter D. Short, officer in charge of the public demonstration of the infantry attack, gave an order to resume firing 4.2 mortar shells during the drill.

The shells fell in the area occupied by the attacking infantry company, killing the four and injuring 13 other soldiers.

Testimony Conflicts

Berger's testimony was in conflict with that of Col. Short, who had declared he first ordered a cease-fire when it appeared mortar shells were falling in the wrong target area. He said he talked with Berger by telephone and told him he could resume firing if he wished after checking the mortars to make sure they were being fired correctly.

Berger said yesterday, "Col. Short is confused and doesn't remember things as they happened at that time." He said the order to resume fire was Short's "decision."

Sought Since June Man Picked Up As Suspect in Ellenville Theft

A man sought since June for alleged burglary and theft of an automobile in Ellenville was picked up Thursday by New York city police and returned to Ulster county by Ellenville state police.

Russell Mead, 31, of 101 East 26th street, New York city, was arraigned last night before Justice of the Peace Frank Muller of Ellenville on a charge of burglary third degree, waived examination and was held for the grand jury.

Troopers J. S. Metzger, BCI, and Robert Flynn went down to the city to return Mead.

They reported that Mead was employed last June by Samuel Graffeo, proprietor of Rande Hotel, Ellenville, as a bartender and handyman.

On July 19 he disappeared with a suburban owned by the proprietor.

It was also discovered that the office had been broken into and a cash box containing $65 in cash was missing.

A teletype alarm was sent out by state police with the result that Mead was picked up earlier this week in New York city.
